BLAMED BY ALGER.

Commanders Held Responsible
In Speech at Knoxville.

SAID THEY SENT GOOD REPORTS.

General Sanger and Waites Made Strong Accusations Before Alger In the Presence of Sternberg and Luddington at Lexington Against Some Wrong.

KNOXVILLE, Sept. 22.—The secretary of war, who yesterday inspected Camp Poland and reviewed the enlisted men encamped there, made a speech to the commanding officers at General McKee's headquarters yesterday morning, in which he fixed the blame for the sickness in the different camps through the country on the commanding officers.

At one point he said that the troops would have been moved from Chickamauga, long before they were, if the conditions said to exist had been known. Said he:

"We received only good reports at Washington from the commanding officers, and it was supposed that the outside reports were exaggerated."

"The commanders of camps were responsible for the condition of their camps, and if the men are not well cared for and if the hospital and sanitary conditions are bad the commanding officer must answer for it."

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 22.—At the conference here Tuesday evening of Secretary Alger with General Breckinridge, the commander of Camp Hamilton, and other officers, General Sanger said while the division hospital may be a good thing, that as it was conducted had been a disgrace to the service; that it had deprived the regiments of their surgeons and caused hardships on the sick who should have had better attention at the proper time. Surgeon General Sternberg in reply insisted that all requisitions had been honored in Washington, and that any medical men failing to do their duty should be reported.

General Waites told Secretary Alger that the neglect of some quartermasters to furnish supplies was criminal. While in Chickamauga he frequently made requisitions which were not honored. An imperative order had been sent to have all water boiled. He made a requisition on Quartermaster General Lee for water boilers. No attention was paid to his requisition and after he repeatedly urged Quartermaster Lee to send the boilers, and telling how the men were contracting typhoid fever, he was met with a reply which read: "The war department does not furnish boilers." General Waites then purchased the boilers himself, but the seeds of typhoid had been sown and the daily report showed the list of deaths and of cases in the hospitals.

Pointing at Quartermaster Luddington General White said: "These men can not say it was somebody else's fault. It was the fault of Quartermaster Lee, and it was the fault of Quartermaster Luddington, who is standing right there."

Luddington made no reply to White.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—It was stated at the quartermaster's department of the army yesterday that the claim made by certain officers that boilers were not furnished for boiling water at Chickamauga is not true. On the same date that Chief Quartermaster Lee telegraphed for the boilers 2,000 were sent and a little later 500 more. It was also stated that the soldiers would not drink the boiled water because it had a flat taste, and preferred to drink the fresh water.

THREATENED OTIS.

Cleveland Man, Whose Son Died, Said an Organization Would Urge Charges Against Him.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 22.—Mr. C. W. Metcalf, living at 50 Linwood street, this city, whose son, Burton Metcalf, died recently in San Francisco of typhoid pneumonia contracted while at Camp Merritt as a member of the United States regulars, will take steps to have charges preferred against General Otis, now with the American forces in the Philippines. Mr. Metcalf said yesterday in part:

"I am a member of an organization made up of people all over the country who have lost relatives or friends who had enlisted in the regular army for service in the Philippines. These men died through exposure on that pestilential spot known as Camp Merritt. Each member of this organization will bring pressure to bear on his congressman to have charges preferred against General Otis, who located the camp where it was."

He said the organization was large and influential.

Make use of time while it is present with you. It depends upon your will and not upon the number of days to have a sufficient length of life.—Montaigne.

TO PROTECT CLERGY.

Otis Told to Investigate Report That Insurgents Were Abusing Certain Catholic Priests.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Monsignor Martinelli, the apostolic delegate in Washington Tuesday, received a cablegram from Cardinal Rampolla, secretary of the vatican, informing him that the bishop of New Segovia, Philippine islands, and several Catholic priests had been arrested by the insurgents and were imprisoned and being brutally treated by their captors.

Monsignor Martinelli presented the facts, as communicated to him, to Acting Secretary of War Meiklejohn, who directed that General Otis be informed of the situation of the priests and asked to protect them from bad treatment, if they were within his jurisdiction, which Adjutant General Corbin did.

In his reply General Otis said in substance:

"Believe reports of extent of brutality to Spanish priests exaggerated. Will send officer to investigate, which will require several days. New Segovia bishopric 400 miles distant."

IN MEMORY OF CAPRON.

Prominent Men Gathered at the Interment in Arlington Cemetery.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The remains of Captain Allyn Capron, one of the notable figures of the Santiago campaign, and father of Captain Allyn K. Capron of the rough riders, who fell in the first battle of the war, were buried at Arlington National cemetery yesterday with military honors. The funeral was attended by a large number of prominent army officers, including Major General Miles and members of his staff. Among the many floral tributes was a wreath of orchids and lilies sent by the president and Mrs. McKinley from the White House conservatory.

Rev. Alfred Harding conducted the Episcopal burial service.

TO CARE FOR SICK.

Steamer Berlin Sailed With Acting Assistant Surgeons, Nurses and Others.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The following dispatch was received at the war department last evening from Colonel Kimball, depot quartermaster in New York:

"NEW YORK, Sept. 21.
Hon. D. G. Meiklejohn, Assistant Secretary of War, Washington:

"Steamer Berlin sailed at 4 o'clock with the following persons on board: Fourteen acting assistant surgeons, 2 Red Cross nurses, 46 contract nurses, 5 enlisted men, 2 postal clerks, 16 passengers, on orders from the war department; 28 hospital corps men."

"KIMBALL."

Miss Barton Called on McKinley.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Miss Clara Barton of the Red Cross society, accompanied by a party of friends, made a call upon the president yesterday. Miss Barton stated that while there had been more or less reference to the work of the Red Cross in Cuba, she had made nothing like an official report.

CORDIAL TO AMERICANS.

Canadians Paid More Attention to Marblehead's Men Than to Crews of British Vessels.

QUEBEC, Sept. 22.—The monument to the French explorer, Champlain, was unveiled yesterday.

Three British warships, the Renown, the Indefatigable and the Talbot, arrived here several days ago to participate in the ceremonies, but her majesty's seamen did not get the spirited reception given the battered and bruised old United States cruiser Marblehead and her little handful of Yankee sailors fresh from the stormy scenes on the south coast of Cuba.

At the unveiling ceremonies the Marblehead men were given the position of honor facing the monument and they had all the time the lion's share of the crowd's admiration.

FOR MURDERING MISSIONARIES.

Governor of Sierra Leone Offered a Reward For the Guilty.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Consul Williams, at Sierra Leone, has informed the department of state that the governor of Sierra Leone has offered a reward of £10 to any person who will furnish information that will lead to the apprehension and conviction of the perpetrator or perpetrators of the murders of the American missionaries at Rotofunk and Tiaman on May 3 and 8 last.

President Changed Time to Start.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The president has decided to postpone his departure for the west until the second week in October, giving himself only time to reach Omaha by the 12th.

Captain Worden Dead.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The war department was advised yesterday that Captain C. A. Worden of the Seventh infantry died yesterday, at Fort Logan, Colo.

A YELLOW FEVER CASE

One Arrived on a Transport
From Cuba.

RESTARTED THE DETENTION CAMP.

General Wheeler Compelled to Do So at Camp Wikoff—Other Sick on the Same
Transport and on Another Vessel—Two
Died at the Camp.

CAMP WIKOFF, MONTAUK POINT, L. I., Sept. 22.—The transport Seguranc arrived yesterday from Cuba with what was said to be one unmistakable case of yellow fever aboard. The transport brought sick and convalescent soldiers from the hospitals at Siboney. The boarding officer, Dr. Magruder, had been ordered back to Washington in the absence of anticipation of the receipt of any more yellow fever cases. General Wheeler decided to send one of the camp surgeons to inspect the Seguranc and to arrange for the removal of the sick to the detention hospital, which will now have to be reopened. The yellow fever patient on board the Seguranc is isolated and will be kept on the vessel for the present. The Seguranc brought 40 men who were not able to care for themselves and 35 convalescents. All these men will be transferred to the detention camp.

The City of Mexico also arrived at the camp yesterday with Troop M of the Tenth regular cavalry, which was left behind in Cuba to care for the belongings of the regiment. There were 76 men in all, 18 of whom are sick. There were 496 patients in the general hospital yesterday. Three hundred and fifty of the men in the hospital were seriously ill.

Deaths reported yesterday were: Lieutenant Alfred Roberts of Company F, Seventy-first New York volunteers, and Charles Gunge of Troop A, Sixth cavalry.

The Third cavalry and the men of the Eighth Maine volunteer signal corps departed from camp yesterday.

OVER 100 FEVER PATIENTS.

That Many Were at Camp Meade, but Health Conditions Were Reported Improved.

CAMP MEADE, MIDDLETOWN, Pa., Sept. 22.—There were still over 100 fever patients in the division hospitals yesterday, and they will be taken away by city hospitals as fast as they are able to be moved. Major Joseph K. Weaver, surgeon in charge of the Second division hospital, said the health conditions were much improved. There was very little sickness in camp, outside of the two New York regiments which arrived recently from Camp Black. Dr. Gordon Ewing of Philadelphia was in charge of the headquarters of the national relief committee in camp, and was supplying the troops with stationary and writing material and the hospitals with delicacies.

The Seventh Ohio regiment is expected to start for Columbus today over the Baltimore and Ohio for muster out at the expiration of a 30-day furlough. This may complete the departure of troops from Camp Meade until the final movement to the West Indies and Philippines. The Fourth New Jersey is expected to arrive Friday night from Sea Girt to complete the organization of the Second corps. With the probable exception of the Fourteenth Pennsylvania none of the troops will be mustered out before the peace commission concludes its negotiations with Spain.

The trial of Major Charles R. Parke of Scranton has been called off and efforts are being made to hush up the matter. Parke and his attorneys, however, will not have it that way. The major has been under arrest for ten days for refusing to accept descriptive lists of patients delivered to the Second division hospital while he was surgeon in charge. Such an order was never served on him. The charges will probably be dropped and Parke restored to his position of executive officer of the hospital.

Major Jackson of St. Louis has relieved Major Weaver as surgeon of the Second division hospital.

Private George W. Carroll, Company M, Second Tennessee, fell from a trolley car in Harrisburg yesterday afternoon and was seriously injured. The Pennsylvania Railroad company has discontinued the special trains to camp on Saturdays and Sundays. Regular trains will make stops at Camp Meade station.

William M. Brown, cook for Company C, Two Hundred and First New York, died yesterday of typhoid fever.

REPORTED ONE DEATH.

General Lawton's Health Report Indicated Improved Conditions.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—General Lawton's report of the health conditions of the American troops at Santiago last night indicated a distinct improvement. The number of sick had been reduced more than 400 during the two days previous and only one death was reported.

General Lawton's dispatch to the war department was as follows:

"SANTIAGO, Sept. 21.
Adjutant General, Washington:
"Sick, 766; fever 434; new cases, 78; returned to duty, 85. Death—Private Frederick, Company K, Ninth United States volunteer infantry, Sept. 20, cause not known. No report received from Fifth United States infantry and Ninth United States volunteer infantry."
"LAWTON, Major General."

A G. A. R. ESCORT.

Mrs. Jefferson Davis Accepted It to Convey Winnie's Remains to Station
at Narragansett Pier.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., Sept. 22.—Mrs. Jefferson Davis received the offer yesterday for an escort for the remains of her daughter from the hotel to the railway station today from the commander of the local G. A. R. post. The offer was accepted.

PINGREE RENOMINATED.

The Michigan Republican Convention Also Endorsed the Governor's Reform
Ideas—Alger Resolution.

DETROIT, Sept. 22.—Governor Pingree was unanimously renominated by acclamation yesterday afternoon by the Michigan state convention. His reform ideas and efforts toward regulating alleged inequalities of taxation were heartily commended in the platform adopted, and many members of his party who have heretofore not been in accord with the governor joined in the cheering when he appeared and made a characteristic speech of acceptance.

On the war issue the resolutions say: "We endorse the present national administration and express confidence in the honesty, integrity and patriotism of President McKinley. During the trying times that culminated in a war with Spain he displayed rare ability and discretion, until the final cessation of hostilities, which we hope will speedily result in permanent peace."

"We endorse our honored secretary of war and commend his conscientious, patriotic and unselfish devotion to the honor of the nation and welfare of the army. We denounce the unjust attacks made on him and offer him our undivided support and confidence."

"We reaffirm the principles of the St. Louis platform and pledge them our support as a sure guarantee of national prosperity and honor. We stand upon the existing gold standard and condemn the proposition to admit silver to free and unlimited coinage at the rate of 16 to 1 by this country alone."

GREETED ROUGH RIDERS.

President at the White House.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—President McKinley yesterday informally received a delegation of about a dozen members of the Roosevelt rough rider regiment. A majority of the delegation were from New Mexico. The president spoke with earnest enthusiasm of the work of the regiment in the Santiago campaign, saying that he was pleased to have the opportunity on his own behalf, and on behalf of the country at large, to thank the regiment, through the present delegation, for the work it had done.

"You have not only done well," he said, "but I have no doubt you would all be willing to again serve your country in an emergency."

The response was that they would be to a man.

"We want our colonel to raise a brigade, instead of a regiment, next time," said one of the younger members of the party.

The president also congratulated the soldiers upon their good fortune in receiving competent officers to lead them, and met with a hearty response to all that he said about Colonel Roosevelt and Generals Wood and Young.

SPANISH SOLDIERS SAILED.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Sept. 20.—(Delayed in transmission.)—The repatriation of the Spanish soldiers began today. Four hundred men, of whom 200 hundred were sick and 200 belonged to the engineer corps, sailed for Havre on board the French steamer Chateau Lafitte. Eight hundred infantry, belonging to the Asturias battalion are expected to sail tomorrow on board the steamer San Francisco.

The captain general yesterday gave notice to the Spanish troops to retire from Abonito, Baranquitas and Barros on Sunday and from Humacao, Guaman and Cayey on Monday. Our troops will move up and occupy these towns as soon as they are evacuated and the Spanish troops in position near the capital will enter the city in order to be ready to embark on the arrival of the transports here.

Sailors Ordered to Join Dewey.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The navy department yesterday ordered 400 sailors to be sent to Admiral Dewey's squadron at Manila. The men were said to be intended to take the place of sailors whose terms of service have expired.

A BLOCK DESTROYED.

Business Structure Burned at Canal Dover.

THE FIREMEN WERE HAMPERED.

Water Plug Wrenches Had Been Stolen.
Plant of Wadsworth Milling Company,
at Wadsworth Burned at Loss of About $18,000, Partly Insured.

CANAL DOVER, O., Sept. 22.—Plin Vinton's Third street business block was burned to the ground early yesterday morning. The tenants were the Tuscarawas Manufacturing company, John A. Hostetler, an attorney; H. Miner, meat market; Joseph Rees, cigar manufacturer, and A. Koby, tailor. Water plug wrenches had been stolen from the firemen to hamper their work. An attempt was made about two months ago to burn the same building.

AKRON, Sept. 22.—The plant of the Wadsworth Milling company, at Wadsworth, was burned yesterday morning, a loss of $18,000. The Yoder Bros.' grist mill, valued at $3,000, and Barnes & Co.'s machine shop $5,000, and a cold storage plant owned by George J. Renner of this city, worth $3,000, were other losses. The insurance of the Wadsworth Milling company amounts to $13,000.

Interstate League Magnates.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 22.—The Interstate Baseball League magnates will meet at Dayton next Monday afternoon. The Dayton club will be awarded the pennant and the owners of the club will receive what money is coming to them from their deposits, less expenses incurred. The late Strobel-Keefe incident will receive attention, and President Power may again be asked to take the presidency of the league. Some dickers may also be made.

Scottish Rite Masons.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 22.—After conferring of the thirty-third degree Tuesday night on Governor Bushnell and Thos. Kite of this year's election and the 35 candidates elected last year the supreme council of Scottish Rite Masons yesterday devoted its time to the consideration of the annual reports of its officers and of the deputies of the supreme council from their respective states.

BRYAN SECURED LEAVE.

Visit to Washington Said to Be to Try and Have Men Mustered Out.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 22.—Col. W. J. Bryan left Tuesday night for Washington, having secured leave of absence from General Lee Tuesday. He was to arrive in Washington last night and expects to meet Governor Holcomb there. The two will see President McKinley and make a final effort to have the Third Nebraska, Colonel Bryan's regiment, mustered out. His departure was not generally known.

General Lee informed a reporter that he had received a very positive telegram from Washington stating that as some Nebraska troops had already been mustered out, the Third would be retained until another general reduction was made in the volunteer army, something not likely to occur soon. Colonel Bryan expects to be back at Jacksonville in time to be present Sunday during the visit of Secretary Alger.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Col. Bryan arrived in Washington last night.

UPRISING OF CONVICTS.

Some In French Guiana May Succeed In Releasing a Number of Others.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—A special dispatch from Paris says the deputy representing French Guiana in the chamber has received a dispatch announcing that a mutiny has taken place among the convicts at Cayenne, the capital of French Guiana. They murdered guards, seized the arms and ammunition and were besieging the principal prison. It is feared they may succeed in freeing about 1,000 convicts confined in the building.

Devil's island, where Dreyfus is confined, is but a short distance from Cayenne. His guards are under strict orders to kill him if any attempt is made to release him or if there is any possibility of his escaping.

NATIVES APPEARED DIVIDED.

Hawaii Commissioners Were Deluged
With Petitions and Memorials.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—The steamship Alameda arrived yesterday from Australian points, via Honolulu. Advice from the latter place, under date of Sept. 14, say that the congressional commissioners are finishing their work and expect to leave for Washington on Sept. 23. The commissioners are now being deluged with petitions and memorials from the native Hawaiian.

The sentiment of the natives appears to be divided. One faction desires the restoration of the queen while the other accepts the new order of affairs and asks for certain rights under the new form of government.

BLAMED BY ALGER.

Commanders Held Responsible
In Speech at Knoxville.

SAID THEY SENT GOOD REPORTS.

Accusations Before Alger In the Presence of Sternberg and Luddington at Lexington Against Some Wrongs.

KNOXVILLE, Sept. 22.—The secretary of war, who yesterday inspected Camp Poland and reviewed the enlisted men encamped there, made a speech to the commanding officers at General McKee's headquarters yesterday morning, in which he fixed the blame for the sickness in the different camps through the country on the commanding officers.

At one point he said that the troops would have been moved from Chickamauga, long before they were, if the conditions said to exist had been known. Said he:

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 22.—At the conference here Tuesday evening of Secretary Alger with General Breckinridge, the commander of Camp Hamilton, and other officers, General Sanger said while the division hospital may be a good thing, that as it was conducted had been a disgrace to the service; that it had deprived the regiments of their surgeons and caused hardships on the sick who should have had better attention at the proper time. Surgeon General Sternberg in reply insisted that all requisitions had been honored in Washington, and that any medical men failing to do their duty should be reported.

General Waites told Secretary Alger that the neglect of some quartermasters to furnish supplies was criminal. While in Chickamauga he frequently made requisitions which were not honored. An imperative order had been sent to have all water boiled. He made a requisition on Quartermaster General Lee for water boilers. No attention was paid to his requisition and after he repeatedly urged Quartermaster Lee to send the boilers, and telling how the men were contracting typhoid fever, he was met with a reply which read:

Luddington made no reply to White. WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—It was stated at the quartermaster's department of the army yesterday that the claim made by certain officers that boilers were not furnished for boiling water at Chickamauga is not true. On the same date that Chief Quartermaster Lee telegraphed for the boilers 2,000 were sent and a little later 500 more. It was also stated that the soldiers would not drink the boiled water because it had a flat taste, and preferred to drink the fresh water.

THREATENED OTIS.

Cleveland Man, Whose Son Died, Said an
Against Him.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 22.—Mr. O. W. Metcalf, living at 50 Linwood street, this city, whose son, Burton Metcalf, died recently in San Francisco of typhoid pneumonia contracted while at Camp Merritt as a member of the United States regulars, will take steps to have charges preferred against General Otis, now with the American forces in the Philippines. Mr. Metcalf said yesterday in part:

"I am a member of an organization made up of people all over the country who have lost relatives or friends who had enlisted in the regular army for service in the Philippines. These men died through exposure on that pestilential spot known as Camp Merritt. Each member of this organization will bring pressure to bear on his congressman to have charges preferred against General Otis, who located the camp where it was."

He said the organization was large and influential.

TO PROTECT CLERGY.

Otis Told to Investigate Report That

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Monsignor Martinelli, the apostolic delegate in Washington Tuesday, received a cablegram from Cardinal Rampolla, secretary of the vatican, informing him that the bishop of New Segovia, Philippine islands, and several Catholic priests had been arrested by the insurgents and were imprisoned and being brutally treated by their captors.

Monsignor Martinelli presented the facts, as communicated to him, to Acting Secretary of War Meiklejohn, who directed that General Otis be informed of the situation of the priests and asked to protect them from bad treatment, if they were within his jurisdiction, which Adjutant General Corbin did.

In his reply General Otis said in substance:

"Believe reports of extent of brutality to Spanish priests exaggerated. Will send officer to investigate, which will require several days. New Segovia bishopric 100 miles distant."

IN MEMORY OF CAPRON.

Prominent Men Gathered at the Interment in Arlington Cemetery.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The remains of Captain Allyn Capron, one of the notable figures of the Santiago campaign, and father of Captain Allyn K. Capron of the rough riders, who fell in the first battle of the war, were buried at Arlington National cemetery yesterday with military honors. The funeral was attended by a large number of prominent army officers, including Major General Miles and members of his staff. Among the many floral tributes was a wreath of orchids and lilies sent by the president and Mrs. McKinley from the White House conservatory.

Rev. Alfred Harding conducted the Episcopal burial service.

TO CARE FOR SICK.

sistant Surgeons, Nurses and Others.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The following dispatch was received at the war department last evening from Colonel Kimball, depot quartermaster in New York:

"NEW YORK, Sept. 21.
Hon. D. G. Meiklejohn, Assistant Secretary of War, Washington:

"Steamer Berlin sailed at 4 o'clock with the following persons on board: Fourteen acting assistant surgeons, 2 Red Cross nurses, 46 contract nurses, 5 enlisted men, 2 postal clerks, 16 passengers, on orders from the war department; 28 hospital corps men."

"KIMBALL."

Miss Barton Called on McKinley.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Miss Clara Barton of the Red Cross society, accompanied by a party of friends, made a call upon the president yesterday. Miss Barton stated that while there had been more or less reference to the work of the Red Cross in Cuba, she had made nothing like an official report.

CORDIAL TO AMERICANS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Consul Williams, at Sierra Leone, has informed the department of state that the governor of Sierra Leone has offered a reward of $10 to any person who will furnish information that will lead to the apprehension and conviction of the murderer or perpetrators of the murders of the American missionaries at Rotofunk and Tiamaon May 3 and 8 last.

President Changed Time to Start.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The president has decided to postpone his departure for the west until the second week in October, giving himself only time to reach Omaha by the 12th.

Captain Worden Dead.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The war department was advised yesterday that Captain C. A. Worden of the Seventh infantry died yesterday, at Fort Logan, Colo.

A YELLOW FEVER CASE

One Arrived on a Transport
From Cuba.

RESTARTED THE DETENTION CAMP.

General Wheeler Compelled to Do So at Camp Wikoff—Other Sick on the Same

Such an order was never served on him. The charges will probably be dropped and Parke restored to his position of executive officer of the hospital.

Major Jackson of St. Louis has relieved Major Weaver as surgeon of the Second division hospital.

Private George W. Carroll, Company M, Second Tennessee, fell from a trolley car in Harrisburg yesterday afternoon and was seriously injured. The Pennsylvania Railroad company has discontinued the special trains to camp on Saturdays and Sundays. Regular trains will make stops at Camp Meade station. William M. Brown, cook for Company C, Two Hundred and First New York, died yesterday of typhoid fever.

REPORTED ONE DEATH.

cated Improved Conditions.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—General Lawton's report of the health conditions of the American troops at Santiago last night indicated a distinct improvement. The number of sick had been reduced more than 400 during the two days previous and only one death was reported.

General Lawton's dispatch to the war department was as follows:

"SANTIAGO, Sept. 21.
Adjutant General, Washington:
"Sick, 766; fever 434; new cases, 78; returned to duty, 85. Death—Private Frederick, Company K, Ninth United States volunteer infantry, Sept. 20, cause not known. No report received from Fifth United States infantry and Ninth United States volunteer infantry."

A G. A. R. ESCORT.

Mrs. Jefferson Davis Accepted It to Con-
at Narragansett Pier.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., Sept. 22.—Mrs. Jefferson Davis received the offer yesterday for an escort for the remains of her daughter from the hotel to the railway station today from the commander of the local G. A. R. post. The offer was accepted.

PINGREE RENOMINATED.

The Michigan Republican Convention Also
Ideas—Alger Resolution.

DETROIT, Sept. 22.—Governor Pingree was unanimously renominated by acclamation yesterday afternoon by the Michigan state convention. His reform ideas and efforts toward regulating alleged inequalities of taxation were heartily commended in the platform adopted, and many members of his party who have heretofore not been in accord with the governor joined in the cheering when he appeared and made a characteristic speech of acceptance.

On the war issue the resolutions say: "We endorse the present national administration and express confidence in the honesty, integrity and patriotism of President McKinley. During the trying times that culminated in a war with Spain he displayed rare ability and discretion, until the final cessation of hostilities, which we hope will speedily result in permanent peace."

"We endorse our honored secretary of war and commend his conscientious, patriotic and unselfish devotion to the honor of the nation and welfare of the army. We denounce the unjust attacks made on him and offer him our undivided support and confidence."

"We reaffirm the principles of the St. Louis platform and pledge them our support as a sure guarantee of national prosperity and honor. We stand upon the existing gold standard and condemn the proposition to admit silver to free and unlimited coinage at the ratio of 16 to 1 by this country alone."

GREETED ROUGH RIDERS.

President at the White House.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—President McKinley yesterday informally received a delegation of about a dozen members of the Roosevelt rough rider regiment. A majority of the delegation were from New Mexico. The president spoke with earnest enthusiasm of the work of the regiment in the Santiago campaign, saying that he was pleased to have the opportunity on his own behalf, and on behalf of the country at large to thank the regiment, through the present delegation, for the work it had done.

"You have not only done well," he said, "but I have no doubt you would all be willing to again serve your country in an emergency."

The response was that they would be to a man.

"We want our colonel to raise a brigade, instead of a regiment, next time," said one of the younger members of the party.

The president also congratulated the soldiers upon their good fortune in receiving competent officers to lead them, and met with a hearty response to all that he said about Colonel Roosevelt and Generals Wood and Young.

SPANISH SOLDIERS SAILED.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Sept. 20.—(Delayed in transmission.)—The repatriation of the Spanish soldiers began today. Four hundred men, of whom 200 hundred were sick and 200 belonged to the engineer corps, sailed for Havre on board the French steamer Chateau Lafitte. Eight hundred infantry, belonging to the Asturias battalion are expected to sail tomorrow on board the steamer San Francisco.

The captain general yesterday gave notice to the Spanish troops to retire from Abonito, Baranquitas and Barros on Sunday and from Humacao, Guaman and Cayey on Monday. Our troops will move up and occupy these towns as soon as they are evacuated and the Spanish troops in position near the capital will enter the city in order to be ready to embark on the arrival of the transports here.

Sailors Ordered to Join Dewey.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The navy department yesterday ordered 400 sailors to be sent to Admiral Dewey's squadron at Manila. The men were said to be intended to take the place of sailors whose terms of service have expired.

A BLOCK DESTROYED.

Business Structure Burned at Canal Dover.

THE FIREMEN WERE HAMPERED.

Water Plug Wrenches Had Been Stolen.
Plant of Wadsworth Milling Company,
at Wadsworth Burned at Loss of About
$18,000, Partly Insured.

CANAL DOVER, O., Sept. 22.—Plin Vinton's Third street business block was burned to the ground early yesterday morning. The tenants were the Tuscarawas Manufacturing company, John A. Hostetler, an attorney; H. Miner, meat market; Joseph Rens, cigar manufacturer, and A. Koby, tailor. Water plug wrenches had been stolen from the firemen to hamper their work. An attempt was made about two months ago to burn the same building.

AKRON, Sept. 22.—The plant of the Wadsworth Milling company, at Wadsworth, was burned yesterday morning, a loss of $18,000. The Yoder Bros.' grist mill, valued at $3,000, and Barnes & Co.'s machine shop $5,000, and a cold storage plant owned by George J. Renner of this city, worth $3,000, were other losses. The insurance of the Wadsworth Milling company amounts to $13,000.

Interstate League Magnates.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 22.—The Interstate Baseball League magnates will meet at Dayton next Monday afternoon. The Dayton club will be awarded the pennant and the owners of the club will receive what money is coming to them from their deposits, less expenses incurred. The late Strobel-Keefe incident will receive attention, and President Power may again be asked to take the presidency of the league. Some dickers may also be made.

Scottish Rite Masons.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 22.—After conferring of the thirty-third degree Tuesday night on Governor Bushnell and Thos. Kite of this year's election and the 35 candidates elected last year the supreme council of Scottish Rite Masons yesterday devoted its time to the consideration of the annual reports of its officers and of the deputies of the supreme council from their respective states.

BRYAN SECURED LEAVE.

Visit to Washington Said to Be to Try
and Have Men Mustered Out.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 22.—Col. W. J. Bryan left Tuesday night for Washington, having secured leave of absence from General Lee Tuesday. He was to arrive in Washington last night and expects to meet Governor Holcomb there. The two will see President McKinley and make a final effort to have the Third Nebraska, Colonel Bryan's regiment, mustered out. His departure was not generally known.

General Lee informed a reporter that he had received a very positive telegram from Washington stating that as some Nebraska troops had already been mustered out, the Third would be retained until another general reduction was made in the volunteer army, something not likely to occur soon. Colonel Bryan expects to be back at Jacksonville in time to be present Sunday during the visit of Secretary Alger.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Col. Bryan arrived in Washington last night.

UPRISING OF CONVICTS.

Releasing a Number of Others.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—A special dispatch from Paris says the deputy representing French Guiana in the chamber has received a dispatch announcing that a mutiny has taken place among the convicts at Cayenne, the capital of French Guiana. They murdered guards, seized the arms and ammunition and were besieging the principal prison. It is feared they may succeed in freeing about 1,000 convicts confined in the building.

Devil's island, where Dreyfus is confined, is but a short distance from Cayenne. His guards are under strict orders to kill him if any attempt is made to release him or if there is any possibility of his escaping.

NATIVES APPEARED DIVIDED.

Hawaii Commissioners Were Deluged
With Petitions and Memorials.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—The steamship Alameda arrived yesterday from Australian points, via Honolulu. Advice from the latter place, under date of Sept. 14, say that the congressional commissioners are finishing their work and expect to leave for Washington on Sept. 23. The commissioners are now being deluged with petitions and memorials from the native Hawaiians.

The sentiment of the natives appears to be divided. One faction desires the restoration of the queen while the other accepts the new order of affairs and asks for certain rights under the new form of government.

CONLEY'S BODY FOUND

His Face Being Protected by His Hand

ENDEAVORING TO SAVE HIMSELF

Rescuers Penetrated Late Yesterday Afternoon to the Room Where He Was Employed After a Number of Parties Had Been Driven Back During the Day.

LISBON, Sept. 22.—[Special]—The body of James Conley, the victim of the explosion in the slope mine, was found at 5 o'clock last evening in a room 250 yards from the opening.

Numerous attempts were made during the day by brave parties of rescuers, headed by the operators of the mine, to gain entrance to the room in which Conley had been at work. Each time a number were carried out for dead, overcome by the black damp. When found Conley was in a kneeling position, his face screened by his arm, indicating that he realized his fate before death. The condition of the body was such that the party could not disturb it, but hastened to the surface, sickened by the sight. Later it was removed to an undertaker's.

The interior of the mine is still burning and will soon be flooded to extinguish the flames. The mine is operated by Card & Prosser, and the loss will amount to thousands of dollars.

Conley was an experienced miner, 50 years of age and leaves a wife and three children. The disaster is the third of its kind in the history of mining in Ohio in 10 years.

The Anvil Bird.

At dusk in the wilds of the gloomy Brazilian forest you will think it strange to hear the clink of a hammer on an anvil. You would imagine that you were approaching some settlement, and the picture of the ruddy glow of the forge would come up before your eyes.

But if your guide were a native, he would tell you that the sound was made by a campanero, as they call it, although to foreigners it is known as the anvil bird.

This bird is a little larger than a thrush. The plumage is perfectly white, the eyes are a pale gray color, and the naked throat and skin around the eyes are of a fine bright green, while its more northerly relative is orange and black, very much like our oriole.

It is generally in the early part of the day that the campanero sends forth the wonderful note that can be heard at a distance of three miles. Marvelous indeed must be the mechanism of the vocal organs of so small a bird to produce so far-reaching a note, but there is no doubt of the fact, for many travelers have heard the strange sound uttered by the bird when perched on the top-most branch of some withered tree.—Our Animal Friends.

Why He Went.

General Wheeler's daughter was trying to persuade him to stay at home and let younger men do the fighting, urging that he had done fighting enough for one man. Finally she asked, "Father, why do you want to go?" He replied, "If a fish had been out of the water for 88 years and came in sight of a nice pond of water, he would wiggle a little, at any rate."—Champ Clark in Mexico (Mo.) Ledger.

CAMP WIKOFF TALES.

SCENES AND INCIDENTS OF LIFE AT MONTAUK POINT.

How General Young Helped a Mother to Find Her Sons—Baby Food Joke on Some Rough Riders—Actions of Delirious Patients.

Now that General Young has gone to Camp Meade and the detention hospital regulations at Camp Wikoff are not so stringent as of necessity they were earlier this story can be told without detriment to any one. A certain New York woman who has four sons in the volunteer service, one of whom is a captain in the Seventy-first regiment, came down to Montauk Point a few weeks ago, when all was in confusion, to find her boys if possible. Disappointment met her on all sides. Nobody could tell her where to go or to whom to apply. After two days, during which she hardly gave herself time to eat or sleep in her incessant search, she came down to the station to make inquiries there and was directed to Captain Chase, the provost marshal. Captain Chase, for all that he is as busy as any man in camp, is one of those officers who can always find time to listen to any one in distress and to help them if possible. The woman poured out a broken and rather incoherent story of her search for her four sons.

"I've got traces of two of them," she said, "but I can't find anything about the other two. I don't even know if they're dead or alive. The only place I haven't been is the detention hospital, and they've turned me back from there twice." "It is against the rules of the camp, madam, for anybody to go in there. The danger of spreading infection"—"I must go in," broke in the woman desperately. "My boys may be dying there now. Captain, you can take me in if you will. Let the rules go this once. I'll take any precautions you say. I'll stay in there and help nurse the sick. Only take me in." "Madam, I can't disobey the orders," said the captain, but he didn't say it as if he meant it, and he looked appealingly at an officer with whom he had been talking. The officer was General Young, but the woman did not know this when she turned to him with her appeal:

"Can't you help me, sir? I know what military rules are, but if you could know how I've suffered and what it was to let my four boys go!"—"Chase," said General Young, "see here for a moment. Excuse us for a minute, madam," he said to the woman. Then to Captain Chase, "Isn't there some way to get around this?" "Not within the rules, general," said the provost marshal dubiously. "But if"—he stopped and looked inquiringly at the other. "D—n the rules!" said General Young. "Any woman who can produce four sons with blood enough in them to go and fight for their country and who has got blood in her to let them go deserves some consideration. Get her into the detention hospital, Chase."

Captain Chase got a carriage, put the searcher into it and went with her to the hospital, got her through the lines and found one of her boys for her. That left one unaccounted for. Later on he turned up on one of the transports, and now all four of the brothers in arms are at home and well.

"This is a cinch," said the first rough rider. "Work that hatchet hard, Bill." "It's a hard box to open," said the second rough rider, who was plying the hatchet. "Looks like there might be most anything in it," observed the third, "and I've got the appetite for it." "Looks like there might be hoot in it," said the fourth, "and I've always got the appetite for hoot." The quartet had acquired the packing case by extra legal methods from a delivery wagon bound to their camp with supplies, and as they worked at it with an old hatchet other troopers stood about and watched enviously. Finally after much effort and profanity one board came off, then another; then the worker lifted out a tin box, one of many which filled the case.

"Grub, sure," gleefully chorused the other three. Bill unwrapped the box, examined it and got red in the face. "What—the—h—l!" he said slowly and emphatically. "Look at this! Prepared Baby Food, For Infants of Tender Years. Directions For Use. I'll use it!" He dropped it on the ground and sent it spinning away with a kick. His three companions sat with drooping jaws, but the circle of troopers who were watching burst into roars of laughter. Then they broke and ran under a severe fire of baby food in heavy boxes. Each man of the four is now known as "Babe," and their company is getting up a subscription to buy rattles for them.

Delirium of the sick men at Camp Wikoff has taken the same form in nine cases out of ten among those who have been in Cuba, no matter from what form of fever they are suffering. Their hallucination is that they are again back in battle. One will be rushing up a hillside in a charge, another will be working his way forward from tree to tree, trying to discover some Spanish sharpshooter who is firing at him, a third will be wounded and trying to crawl to a place of cover, while a fourth will urge his companions on. Never a night passes that some ward in the general hospital is not roused by the cries of delirious patients, and the surgeons and orderlies are ready at all times for hand to hand conflict with violent cases. Some time ago it was found necessary to remove from the wards the side arms of the officers who are there as patients, but that did not do away with the fighting spirit. An officer got up the other night, and, wrapping his blanket around him, tottered down the ward shouting:

"Come on, men! Come on! Sweep those devils off the earth!" An orderly seized him. He fought as well as he could to get away, but in his weakened condition he quickly collapsed, and bursting into tears cried: "Let me go! Let me go forward! My men will think I'm afraid. I shall be called a coward. For God's sake, let me go! I'm strong enough."

It was an hour before the idea that he was disgraced for life left him. A private was found stealthily crawling on his stomach along the promenade between the wards and occasionally stopping to take a careful shot with a boot which he had picked up somewhere. To the nurse who took him back to his ward he explained that he had not had time to dress before going out on skirmishing duty, and that his gun was less effective than it would have been had the muzzle been made smaller. It occasionally happens that as the orderlies are unable to watch their entire wards all the time a delirious patient slips out and makes for the open, but none of them has yet succeeded in getting past the guards. This performance is particularly troublesome, since it involves going through the hospital, after the man is captured, to find out from what ward he escaped.—New York Sun.

MARRIED HER OTHELLO.

Scotch Immigrant Girl Weds a Negro Despite Opposition.

Martin Hamilton, the dusky American who has been haunting the barge office ever since the arrival at New York the other day of his white sweetheart, Maggie Wood, a young Scotch immigrant, wore a confident air and a new suit when he recently appeared before the special board of inquiry. His black, intelligent face shone with delight. He was ready for a marriage ceremony. His counsel, T. Thomas Fortune and D. Macon Webster, had little difficulty in convincing the board that Hamilton had a legal right to take away the young woman and marry her if she had no objection. The interest of Commissioner Fitchie in the case had been purely of a philanthropic nature. He thought that the young woman should know exactly how the marriage of a black man to a white woman is generally looked upon in the United States. He and his assistant, Mr. McSweeney, having exhausted their reasoning and persuasive powers on the young woman, decided to let her have her way. So, when the black man came for her with a carriage and a dominie, no obstacles were put in her way. The dominie proved to be a Presbyterian only a few shades lighter than Hamilton. The young Scotchwoman is also a Presbyterian. She was the more reconciled to her marriage when she learned that the Rev. Mr. Thompson had a white wife and that they were living happily together.

When the special board of inquiry decided that Maggie was entitled to land, provided her black American lover would care for her, she took the arm of Hamilton and, accompanied by Lawyers Webster and Fortune and the Rev. Mr. Thompson, went to the carriage in front of the barge office and was driven to the dominie's home. Maggie was there made the wife of Hamilton according to the Presbyterian formula. The bride and bridegroom acted sedately. They stood with their backs to the front window in the dominie's parlor, with the minister in front of them. The bride made the responses with a trace of nervousness, but the bridegroom was firm and elate. The black man and his wife will go to housekeeping in Newark, N. J., where Hamilton has bought a home. He is an asphalt street grader and gets $3.50 a day.—New York Sun.

PORTO RICAN NATIVES.

Description of Them by a Missionary Now With the Army.

Edward Windle, formerly a printer of Macon, Mo., now with the Third Illinois in Porto Rico, has written an interesting letter to his father at Ethel, Macon county, under date of Aug. 21, in which he says: "As I have not written since I landed in Porto Rico, I thought I would write you a few lines this beautiful Sunday—that is, it is supposed to be Sunday on the island, and I suppose it is just the same in the United States of America. But of course you would not know it was Sunday here by the natives, as every day is alike to them. Those who live in the country carry on their tradings as they do on the weekday, and if anything there are more on what I call Market street than at any time through the week. They live in the mountains, and all their resources and produce consist of 'lacha' (milk), for they have lots of fine cattle and goats in the mountains, where there are the finest pastures you ever saw. They also raise some corn, which they sell to the city folks, who roast it and eat it off the cob. They never feed it to the horses, for they won't eat it.

Some of the officers in our regime have the native ponies, which are very small, and they would try to get them to eat it, but they would not touch it.

"The natives, which are principally the same as our negroes in the United States, go out and pick wild fruit, pineapples, bananas, coconuts, mangoes, breadfruit, limes and various other things and pile stuff on those little ponies until you can't see them, and then get on top of the load and go to town and trade for what they need in the way of clothing, excepting shoes. I have never seen a country native with a shoe on, but their feet, which are very large, are as tough as india rubber. We have one working for us at the cook tent, carrying wood and water, who, the boys say, can step on a nail and clinch it as though it had been done with a hammer. But taking this into consideration, they are a very clean set of people. If they only have one rag on, it is generally clean."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

IN A CANNON'S MUZZLE.

Strange Place in Which Pesetas Were Hid on the Oquendo.

Oren Ruffy of Trenton, Mo., chief petty officer of the engineers' department of the auxiliary cruiser Harvard, passed through Pittsburg recently on his way home. He told a new story about the sea battle off Santiago. He said:

"A Chicago bluejacket on the Harvard visited the Oquendo several days after the fight and in one of her turret guns found a bag containing nearly 2,000 pesetas in gold, silver and paper, equal in American coin to nearly $600. The money had been placed in the muzzle of the cannon, and the position of the breech block showed that the Spaniard had intended to scatter the stuff by firing the gun and prevent the Americans from getting his fortune. The sailor was allowed to keep his prize and sent it to his mother in Chicago."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

How to Drink Water.

There are few people, we think, who thoroughly realize the value of water as a beverage or who know how to obtain the greatest advantage from it. The effects produced by the drinking of water, as pointed out by our excellent contemporary, Health, vary with the manner in which it is drunk. If, for instance, a pint of cold water be swallowed as a large draft, or if it be taken in two portions with a short interval between, certain definite results follow—effects which differ from those which would have resulted from the same quantity taken by sipping. Sipping is a powerful stimulant to the circulation, a thing which ordinary drinking is not. During the act of sipping the action of the nerve which shows the beats of the heart is abolished, and as a consequence that organ contracts much more rapidly, the pulse beats more quickly and the circulation in various parts of the body is increased. In addition to this, we find that the pressure under which the bile is secreted is raised by the sipping of fluid. And here is a point which might well be noted by our readers:

A glass of cold water, slowly sipped, will produce greater acceleration of the pulse for a time than will a glass of wine or spirits taken at a draft. In this connection it may not be out of place to mention that sipping cold water will often allay the craving for alcohol in those who have been in the habit of taking too much of it and who may be endeavoring to reform, the effect being probably due to the stimulant action of the sipping.

A Perfect Performance.

At a variety entertainment given in aid of a popular institution one of the "turns" was a ventriloquist. As this gentleman was recognized as one of the cleverest members of his profession, his appearance was looked forward to with much interest. At last it came. The stage attendants carried on to the stage three dressed figures, seated in chairs, as usual. The professor followed and then went through an astonishing performance. No one could detect a muscle of his face move during the laughable dialogues, and the changes of voice seemed marvelous.

On retiring the applause was deafening, and the ventriloquist had to return again and again to thank the audience for their appreciation. A couple of minutes or so after, when the audience were talking among themselves as to how it was done, they were thunderstruck to see the three figures get up from the chairs and walk off the stage also, but on realizing how completely they had been "sold" the laughter was uproarious. The professor had got three of his friends to take the place of his usual "lay" figures for that night only.—Pearson's Weekly.

How Bankruptcy Strikes a Maori.

A Maori chief who lost £40 through a white storekeeper going through the bankruptcy court has given the following lucid exposition of this particular branch of British jurisprudence: "The pakeha (white man) who wants to become pakarapu (insolvent) goes into business and gets lots of goods and does not pay for them. He then gets all the money he can together, say £2,000, and puts all of it except £5 away where no one can find it. With the £5 he goes to a judge of the court and tells him he wants to become pakarapu. "The judge then calls all the lawyers

"On Guard."

When disease shoots the first arrow the truly wise man will come instantly on guard. He will not wait for the attack. He will not hesitate until the full force of disease and misery and death comes crashing about him. When a man begins to feel "out of sorts," when his appetite is failing and his energy is not up to the mark, when he has bilious attacks and a feeling of lassitude and incapacity, if he is wise, he will take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery right away. It will bring his appetite back again, and what is more it will bring back his digestive powers. It will give all the assimilative functions the edge and power to extract abundant nourishment from the food he eats. It will make good, pure, healthy blood and send it coursing rapidly through his veins and arteries into every organ and tissue of the body. It will put flesh on his bones and force in his muscles; it will give him strength and courage and cheerfulness, in a word it will give him complete health.

It excretes from the system every particle of dead, useless, flabby tissue. It even reduces the weight of the corpulent man at the same time that it builds up his strength and working power. The weight it adds to people who need it is the kind that comes of pure blood and every organ doing its work properly and thoroughly;—what pugilists call "fighting weight."

IT'S ALL TALK.

Yes, But It's East Liverpool Talk. The Kind That Tells in East Liverpool.

Talk that tells. Talk that's endorsed. Every day talk by people that know. City talk—kidney talk. Do kidneys talk? Well, yes, loud and long. You should learn the kidney language. Lame back means lame kidneys. A bad back is simply The kidneys talking trouble. Here's East Liverpool talk and kidney talk:

Mrs. Mary A. Hewitt, of St. George street, says: "I read in the Pittsburg Press an account of some one who had been cured of kidney disease in that city by using Doan's Kidney Pills. The fact of such an account being published of one living in almost the same place had a tendency to convince me that there must be some truth in it, and I determined to try them myself. Some years before this I had a very severe attack of rheumatism. For three months I lay helpless, and after that I had trouble with my kidneys. For a year I suffered severely. My back was so bad that it felt as if I had a boil where the kidneys are. I could not bend over, lean back against a chair, or reach up. I could not lie on my back, and about every move I made caused pain. I had taken numerous remedies, but none brought the desired relief. Well, Doan's Kidney Pills did what no other remedy was able to do. I took them regularly for a short time, and found them to be all that the Pittsburg paper stated them to be. I can heartily recommend them. After using them I was rid of the backache and other symptoms of kidney disease, and could not have felt better." Plenty more such testimony as this is being published here in East Liverpool daily. Drop into the W. & W. Pharmacy and ask them what their customers say. They always keep a stock of Doan's Kidney Pills on hand.

At dusk in the wilds of the gloomy Brazilian forest you will think it strange to hear the clink of a hammer on an anvil. You would imagine that you were approaching some settlement, and the picture of the ruddy glow of the forge would come up before your eyes.

But if your guide were a native, he would tell you that the sound was made by a campanero, as they call it, although to foreigners it is known as the anvil bird.

This bird is a little larger than a thrush. The plumage is perfectly white, the eyes are a pale gray color, and the naked throat and skin around the eyes are of a fine bright green, while its more northerly relative is orange and black, very much like our oriole.

It is generally in the early part of the day that the campanero sends forth the wonderful note that can be heard at a distance of three miles. Marvelous indeed must be the mechanism of the vocal organs of so small a bird to produce so far-reaching a note, but there is no doubt of the fact, for many travelers have heard the strange sound uttered by the bird when perched on the top-most branch of some withered tree.—Our Animal Friends.

Why He Went.

General Wheeler's daughter was trying to persuade him to stay at home and let younger men do the fighting, urging that he had done fighting enough for one man. Finally she asked, "Father, why do you want to go?" He replied, "If a fish had been out of the water for 88 years and came in sight of a nice pond of water, he would wiggle a little, at any rate."—Champ Clark in Mexico (Mo.) Ledger.

CAMP WIKOFF TALES.

SCENES AND INCIDENTS OF LIFE AT MONTAUK POINT.

How General Young Helped a Mother to Find Her Sons—Baby Food Joke on Some Rough Riders—Actions of Delirious Patients.

Now that General Young has gone to Camp Meade and the detention hospital regulations at Camp Wikoff are not so stringent as of necessity they were earlier this story can be told without detriment to any one. A certain New York woman who has four sons in the volunteer service, one of whom is a captain in the Seventy-first regiment, came down to Montauk Point a few weeks ago, when all was in confusion, to find her boys if possible. Disappointment met her on all sides. Nobody could tell her where to go or to whom to apply. After two days, during which she hardly gave herself time to eat or sleep in her incessant search, she came down to the station to make inquiries there and was directed to Captain Chase, the provost marshal. Captain Chase, for all that he is as busy as any man in camp, is one of those officers who can always find time to listen to any one in distress and to help them if possible. The woman poured out a broken and rather incoherent story of her search for her four sons.

"I've got traces of two of them," she said, "but I can't find anything about the other two. I don't even know if they're dead or alive. The only place I haven't been is the detention hospital, and they've turned me back from there twice." "It is against the rules of the camp, madam, for anybody to go in there. The danger of spreading infection"—"I must go in," broke in the woman desperately. "My boys may be dying there now. Captain, you can take me in if you will. Let the rules go this once. I'll take any precautions you say. I'll stay in there and help nurse the sick. Only take me in." "Madam, I can't disobey the orders," said the captain, but he didn't say it as if he meant it, and he looked appealingly at an officer with whom he had been talking. The officer was General Young, but the woman did not know this when she turned to him with her appeal:

"Can't you help me, sir? I know what military rules are, but if you could know how I've suffered and what it was to let my four boys go!"—"Chase," said General Young, "see here for a moment. Excuse us for a minute, madam," he said to the woman. Then to Captain Chase, "Isn't there some way to get around this?" "Not within the rules, general," said the provost marshal dubiously. "But if"—he stopped and looked inquiringly at the other. "D—n the rules!" said General Young. "Any woman who can produce four sons with blood enough in them to go and fight for their country and who has got blood in her to let them go deserves some consideration. Get her into the detention hospital, Chase."

Captain Chase got a carriage, put the searcher into it and went with her to the hospital, got her through the lines and found one of her boys for her. That left one unaccounted for. Later on he turned up on one of the transports, and now all four of the brothers in arms are at home and well.

"This is a cinch," said the first rough rider. "Work that hatchet hard, Bill." "It's a hard box to open," said the second rough rider, who was plying the hatchet. "Looks like there might be most anything in it," observed the third, "and I've got the appetite for it." "Looks like there might be hoot in it," said the fourth, "and I've always got the appetite for hoot." The quartet had acquired the packing case by extra legal methods from a delivery wagon bound to their camp with supplies, and as they worked at it with an old hatchet other troopers stood about and watched enviously. Finally after much effort and profanity one board came off, then another; then the worker lifted out a tin box, one of many which filled the case.

"Grub, sure," gleefully chorused the other three. Bill unwrapped the box, examined it and got red in the face. "What—the—h—l!" he said slowly and emphatically. "Look at this! Prepared Baby Food, For Infants of Tender Years. Directions For Use. I'll use it!" He dropped it on the ground and sent it spinning away with a kick. His three companions sat with drooping jaws, but the circle of troopers who were watching burst into roars of laughter. Then they broke and ran under a severe fire of baby food in heavy boxes. Each man of the four is now known as "Babe," and their company is getting up a subscription to buy rattles for them.

Delirium of the sick men at Camp Wikoff has taken the same form in nine cases out of ten among those who have been in Cuba, no matter from what form of fever they are suffering. Their hallucination is that they are again back in battle. One will be rushing up a hillside in a charge, another will be working his way forward from tree to tree, trying to discover some Spanish sharpshooter who is firing at him, a third will be wounded and trying to crawl to a place of cover, while a fourth will urge his companions on. Never a night passes that some ward in the general hospital is not roused by the cries of delirious patients, and the surgeons and orderlies are ready at all times for hand to hand conflict with violent cases. Some time ago it was found necessary to remove from the wards the side arms of the officers who are there as patients, but that did not do away with the fighting spirit. An officer got up the other night, and, wrapping his blanket around him, tottered down the ward shouting:

"Come on, men! Come on! Sweep those devils off the earth!" An orderly seized him. He fought as well as he could to get away, but in his weakened condition he quickly collapsed, and bursting into tears cried: "Let me go! Let me go forward! My men will think I'm afraid. I shall be called a coward. For God's sake, let me go! I'm strong enough."

It was an hour before the idea that he was disgraced for life left him. A private was found stealthily crawling on his stomach along the promenade between the wards and occasionally stopping to take a careful shot with a boot which he had picked up somewhere. To the nurse who took him back to his ward he explained that he had not had time to dress before going out on skirmishing duty, and that his gun was less effective than it would have been had the muzzle been made smaller. It occasionally happens that as the orderlies are unable to watch their entire wards all the time a delirious patient slips out and makes for the open, but none of them has yet succeeded in getting past the guards. This performance is particularly troublesome, since it involves going through the hospital, after the man is captured, to find out from what ward he escaped.—New York Sun.

MARRIED HER OTHELLO.

Scotch Immigrant Girl Weds a Negro Despite Opposition.

Martin Hamilton, the dusky American who has been haunting the barge office ever since the arrival at New York the other day of his white sweetheart, Maggie Wood, a young Scotch immigrant, wore a confident air and a new suit when he recently appeared before the special board of inquiry. His black, intelligent face shone with delight. He was ready for a marriage ceremony. His counsel, T. Thomas Fortune and D. Macon Webster, had little difficulty in convincing the board that Hamilton had a legal right to take away the young woman and marry her if she had no objection. The interest of Commissioner Fitchie in the case had been purely of a philanthropic nature. He thought that the young woman should know exactly how the marriage of a black man to a white woman is generally looked upon in the United States. He and his assistant, Mr. McSweeney, having exhausted their reasoning and persuasive powers on the young woman, decided to let her have her way. So, when the black man came for her with a carriage and a dominie, no obstacles were put in her way. The dominie proved to be a Presbyterian only a few shades lighter than Hamilton. The young Scotchwoman is also a Presbyterian. She was the more reconciled to her marriage when she learned that the Rev. Mr. Thompson had a white wife and that they were living happily together.

When the special board of inquiry decided that Maggie was entitled to land, provided her black American lover would care for her, she took the arm of Hamilton and, accompanied by Lawyers Webster and Fortune and the Rev. Mr. Thompson, went to the carriage in front of the barge office and was driven to the dominie's home. Maggie was there made the wife of Hamilton according to the Presbyterian formula. The bride and bridegroom acted sedately. They stood with their backs to the front window in the dominie's parlor, with the minister in front of them. The bride made the responses with a trace of nervousness, but the bridegroom was firm and elate. The black man and his wife will go to housekeeping in Newark, N. J., where Hamilton has bought a home. He is an asphalt street grader and gets $3.50 a day.—New York Sun.

PORTO RICAN NATIVES.

Description of Them by a Missionary Now With the Army.

Edward Winkle, formerly a printer of Macon, Mo., now with the Third Illinois in Porto Rico, has written an interesting letter to his father at Ethel, Macon county, under date of Aug. 21, in which he says: "As I have not written since I landed in Porto Rico, I thought I would write you a few lines this beautiful Sunday—that is, it is supposed to be Sunday on the island, and I suppose it is just the same in the United States of America. But of course you would not know it was Sunday here by the natives, as every day is alike to them. Those who live in the country carry on their tradings as they do on the weekday, and if anything there are more on what I call Market street than at any time through the week. They live in the mountains, and all their resources and produce consist of 'lacha' (milk), for they have lots of fine cattle and goats in the mountains, where there are the finest pastures you ever saw. They also raise some corn, which they sell to the city folks, who roast it and eat it off the cob. They never feed it to the horses, for they won't eat it.

Some of the omcers in our regime have the native ponies, which are very small, and they would try to get them to eat it, but they would not touch it.

"The natives, which are principally the same as our negroes in the United States, go out and pick wild fruit, pineapples, bananas, coconuts, mangoes, breadfruit, limes and various other things and pile stuff on those little ponies until you can't see them, and then get on top of the load and go to town and trade for what they need in the way of clothing, excepting shoes. I have never seen a country native with a shoe on, but their feet, which are very large, are as tough as india rubber. We have one working for us at the cook tent, carrying wood and water, who, the boys say, can step on a nail and clinch it as though it had been done with a hammer. But taking this into consideration, they are a very clean set of people. If they only have one rag on, it is generally clean."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

IN A CANNON'S MUZZLE.

Strange Place in Which Pesetas Were Hid on the Oquendo.

Oren Ruffy of Trenton, Mo., chief petty officer of the engineers' department of the auxiliary cruiser Harvard, passed through Pittsburg recently on his way home. He told a new story about the sea battle off Santiago. He said:

"A Chicago bluejacket on the Harvard visited the Oquendo several days after the fight and in one of her turret guns found a bag containing nearly 2,000 pesetas in gold, silver and paper, equal in American coin to nearly $600. The money had been placed in the muzzle of the cannon, and the position of the breech block showed that the Spaniard had intended to scatter the stuff by firing the gun and prevent the Americans from getting his fortune. The sailor was allowed to keep his prize and sent it to his mother in Chicago."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

How to Drink Water.

There are few people, we think, who thoroughly realize the value of water as a beverage or who know how to obtain the greatest advantage from it. The effects produced by the drinking of water, as pointed out by our excellent contemporary, Health, vary with the manner in which it is drunk. If, for instance, a pint of cold water be swallowed as a large draft, or if it be taken in two portions with a short interval between, certain definite results follow—effects which differ from those which would have resulted from the same quantity taken by sipping. Sipping is a powerful stimulant to the circulation, a thing which ordinary drinking is not. During the act of sipping the action of the nerve which shows the beats of the heart is abolished, and as a consequence that organ contracts much more rapidly, the pulse beats more quickly and the circulation in various parts of the body is increased. In addition to this, we find that the pressure under which the bile is secreted is raised by the sipping of fluid. And here is a point which might well be noted by our readers:

A glass of cold water, slowly sipped, will produce greater acceleration of the pulse for a time than will a glass of wine or spirits taken at a draft. In this connection it may not be out of place to mention that sipping cold water will often allay the craving for alcohol in those who have been in the habit of taking too much of it and who may be endeavoring to reform, the effect being probably due to the stimulant action of the sipping.

A Perfect Performance.

At a variety entertainment given in aid of a popular institution one of the "turns" was a ventriloquist. As this gentleman was recognized as one of the cleverest members of his profession, his appearance was looked forward to with much interest. At last it came. The stage attendants carried on to the stage three dressed figures, seated in chairs, as usual. The professor followed and then went through an astonishing performance. No one could detect a muscle of his face move during the laughable dialogues, and the changes of voice seemed marvelous.

On retiring the applause was deafening, and the ventriloquist had to return again and again to thank the audience for their appreciation. A couple of minutes or so after, when the audience were talking among themselves as to how it was done, they were thunderstruck to see the three figures get up from the chairs and walk off the stage also, but on realizing how completely they had been "sold" the laughter was uproarious. The professor had got three of his friends to take the place of his usual "lay" figures for that night only.—Pearson's Weekly.

How Bankruptcy Strikes a Maori.

A Maori chief who lost £40 through a white storekeeper going through the bankruptcy court has given the following lucid exposition of this particular branch of British jurisprudence: "The pakeha (white man) who wants to become pakarapu (insolvent) goes into business and gets lots of goods and does not pay for them. He then gets all the money he can together, say £2,000, and puts all of it except £5 away where no one can find it. With the £5 he goes to a judge of the court and tells him he wants to become pakarapu. "The judge then calls all the lawyers death comes crashing about him. When a man begins to feel "out of sorts," when his appetite is failing and his energy is not up to the mark, when he has bilious attacks and a feeling of lassitude and incapacity, if he is wise, he will take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery right away. It will bring his appetite back again, and what is more it will bring back his digestive powers. It will give all the assimilative functions the edge and power to extract abundant nourishment from the food he eats. It will make good, pure, healthy blood and send it coursing rapidly through his veins and arteries into every organ and tissue of the body. It will put flesh on his bones and force in his muscles; it will give him strength and courage and cheerfulness, in a word it will give him complete health. It excretes from the system every particle of dead, useless, flabby tissue. It even reduces the weight of the corpulent man at the same time that it builds up his strength and working power. The weight it adds to people who need it is the kind that comes of pure blood and every organ doing its work properly and thoroughly;—what pugilists call "fighting weight."

IT'S ALL TALK.

Yes, But It's East Liverpool Talk. The Kind That Tells in East Liverpool.

Talk that tells. Talk that's endorsed. Every day talk by people that know. City talk—kidney talk. Do kidneys talk? Well, yes, loud and long. You should learn the kidney language. Lame back means lame kidneys. A bad back is simply The kidneys talking trouble. Here's East Liverpool talk and kidney talk:

Mrs. Mary A. Hewitt, of St. George street, says: "I read in the Pittsburg Press an account of some one who had been cured of kidney disease in that city by using Doan's Kidney Pills. The fact of such an account being published of one living in almost the same place had a tendency to convince me that there must be some truth in it, and I determined to try them myself. Some years before this I had a very severe attack of rheumatism. For three months I lay helpless, and after that I had trouble with my kidneys. For a year I suffered severely. My back was so bad that it felt as if I had a boil where the kidneys are. I could not bend over, lean back against a chair, or reach up. I could not lie on my back, and about every move I made caused pain. I had taken numerous remedies, but none brought the desired relief. Well, Doan's Kidney Pills did what no other remedy was able to do. I took them regularly for a short time, and found them to be all that the Pittsburg paper stated them to be. I can heartily recommend them. After using them I was rid of the backache and other symptoms of kidney disease, and could not have felt better." Plenty more such testimony as this is being published here in East Liverpool daily. Drop into the W. & W. Pharmacy and ask them what their customers say. They always keep a stock of Doan's Kidney Pills on hand.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents per box, or sent by mail on receipt of price. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.

MAYOR DENNIS' SPEECH

Had Some Influence on a Woman

WHO HAD COME TO STAY

She Paid the Fines of Her Companions and They Left Town—Broke His Shoulder. Made Complaint—The News of Wellsville.

Minnie Rudy, Daisy Crawford, Badger Rudy and William Sand were arrested by the police. When the quartet was brought before Mayor Dennis they were assessed $5.90 each, and Minnie Rudy, who seemed to be possessed of a plentiful supply of money, paid the fines for the whole party.

It had come to the ears of the mayor that Minnie had plans to make Wellsville her future home, but the emphasis with which he endeavored to persuade her that the air of the place would not be suitable for her constitution evidently had its effect, for she and Miss O'Grady took the morning train for Kensington, where she may meet more cordial greetings than the official goodbye of Mayor Dennis.

Fell From a Tree.

Yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock T. B. Kerr fell from a peach tree on his farm, north of town, alighting on his right shoulder and dislocating it. Dr. A. Noble was called and made him as comfortable as the nature of his injuries would permit.

Special Service.

A special service was held last night in the Church of the Ascension in the interest of missionary work. An appropriate address was delivered by the pastor, Rev. C. A. Jones, and a collection was taken to aid in the spread of the gospel.

A Soldier in Town.

Leroy McKittrick, a member of Battery B, Pittsburg, came to town yesterday and returned today.

He was cordially greeted by his many friends. He reports that his health did not suffer from the trip to Porto Rico, save on going over on a cattleship. He is much bronzed, but his friends do not think he is looking remarkably rugged.

Made Complaint.

Mrs. Mary Shearman appeared before Mayor Dennis this morning complaining of the conduct of Charles Green, a 12-year-old lad. She explained that she had talked with the boy's father, Robert Green, who resides near her house, but he had advised her going to the police for protection. In her hand she carried a sample of the missiles with which he assailed her.

Want a Woman's Room.

The Columbiana county board of visitors yesterday visited the city prison, and afterward sought out Councilman Goetz, of the jail committee.

They explained to him that the condition of the jail was such as to demand immediate action. The place not only needs a thorough cleaning, but they recommended that a department be constructed for women prisoners.

The matter will be given consideration at once.

The News of Wellsville.

Reverend and Mrs. S. Burt left this morning for Alliance where they will visit friends before returning to their home in Ashtabula.

Dr. J. S. Reager is ill. He has symptoms of pneumonia. His many friends hope for his speedy recovery.

Mrs. H. E. Driggs and Mrs. George Wilson went out on the train to Irondale today. They will visit friends, returning tomorrow.

S. S. Cope was uptown yesterday afternoon for the first time in two weeks. He was threatened with fever.

Reverend Williams, the former pastor of the Church of the Ascension, was in town yesterday visiting with friends. He is now stationed at Martin's Ferry, and was on his way from that place to New Castle to enjoy his summer vacation.

Mrs. G. L. Oldham was in town yesterday. She was returning to her home in Toronto from Petrobia, where she had been visiting her sister.

Rev. J. H. Littell, who has been at his father's home in Service, Pa., spent a day with his brother, Rev. W. A. Littell, and left for his home in Wheeling, W. Va., yesterday afternoon.

Judge Wells and Mrs. Mattie Faulk drove over from town to Lisbon today.

A Hopeless Case.

A Scottish paper tells a story of an old Scottish woman who was "unco drouthie," without the money to buy "a drappie." "Lassie," she said to her little granddaughter, "gang round to Donald McCallum and bring me a gill. Tell him I'll pay him i' the morning."

Back came the child with a refusal. Donald declined to part with his whisky without the cash. Eager and irritated, the old woman cast about for some means of "raising the wind," and her eye fell upon the family Bible. "Here, lassie," she said, "gie him this and tell him to keep it until I bring him the siller." Off went the little girl, but she soon returned, still carrying the Bible. Donald was obdurate.

"He says he maun hae the baubees first, granny."

In anger the disappointed grandmother threw up her hands and exclaimed: "Losh, did onybody ever hear the like o' that! The man will neither tak my word nor the word o' God for a gill o' whusky!"

How Snake Poison Kills.

The action of poisons upon the system is and always has been one of the most interesting of subjects. Just how and why it kills has been determined through a series of experiments made by scientists. The following description is unquestionably the best and most lucid of any that has been given to the public: "The venom may be roughly separated into two parts—one acting upon the blood, and the other upon the nerves. When injected, it immediately begins to create terrible destruction in the blood vessels, the walls of the veins are eaten away and an internal hemorrhage takes place. While this is going on a portion of the venom is attacking the nerves. Particularly susceptible to its ravages is the 'vasomotor' system, a nerve center which controls the muscles of respiration. Paralysis takes place in these organs, and the victim generally dies from an inability to breathe."—New York Ledger.

A Hopeless Case.

A Scottish paper tells a story of an old Scottish woman who was "unco drouthie," without the money to buy "a drappie." "Lassie," she said to her little granddaughter, "gang round to Donald McCallum and bring me a gill. Tell him I'll pay him i' the morning." Back came the child with a refusal. Donald declined to part with his whisky without the cash. Eager and irritated, the old woman cast about for some means of "raising the wind," and her eye fell upon the family Bible. "Here, lassie," she said, "gie him this and tell him to keep it until I bring him the siller." Off went the little girl, but she soon returned, still carrying the Bible. Donald was obdurate.

"He says he maun hae the baubees first, granny."

In anger the disappointed grandmother threw up her hands and exclaimed: "Losh, did onybody ever hear the like o' that! The man will neither tak my word nor the word o' God for a gill o' whusky!"

How Snake Poison Kills.

The action of poisons upon the system is and always has been one of the most interesting of subjects. Just how and why it kills has been determined through a series of experiments made by scientists. The following description is unquestionably the best and most lucid of any that has been given to the public: "The venom may be roughly separated into two parts—one acting upon the blood, and the other upon the nerves. When injected, it immediately begins to create terrible destruction in the blood vessels, the walls of the veins are eaten away and an internal hemorrhage takes place. While this is going on a portion of the venom is attacking the nerves. Particularly susceptible to its ravages is the 'vasomotor' system, a nerve center which controls the muscles of respiration. Paralysis takes place in these organs, and the victim generally dies from an inability to breathe."—New York Ledger.

THE Lisbon Patriot wants all its readers to carefully peruse the resolutions of the Alliance convention. We wonder what the Patriot has against its readers.

THE country hopes President McKinley's desire to have all charges of mismanagement in the army thoroughly investigated will be carried out. There are some things which should be made plain.

In the joy and gladness of finding a man whom they believe has some chance of being elected to congress, certain of the Democrats of this district are holding up Major Weybrecht as a being just a little lower than the angels. The major might do worse than ask some of his acquaintances to save him from his friends.

LOSING NO TIME.
Every movement of the Republican state committee shows a determination to win the congressional campaign. Arrangements are being rapidly made for a thorough and complete canvass of the state, and within a week meetings will be announced for almost every congressional district. It is to be from a Republican standpoint a campaign of hard work, based upon those issues which the people know.

The Democrats, on the other hand, seem determined to have no plans. They held a meeting in Columbus the other day, but the result as announced can scarcely be taken with much gratification by members of the party. Congressional aspirants are to have speakers when they want them, and that is all. But the leaders of Republicans know their opponents too well to accept that as final, and already there is heard the whisper of a gum shoe campaign, which in turn means that every Republican must vote his political principles next November if he would see his party win. The old gum shoe brand of fighting has stood the Democrats in good stead before, and there is no reason to believe it has worn out.

BRYAN'S MISTAKE.

A few months ago Billy Bryan wanted to wear a blue coat and shoulder straps and he was duly appointed colonel of volunteers. He, of course, had much to say while his regiment was on the way to its permanent camp, never missing an opportunity to appear on the platform if the train chanced to stop a few minutes. Soon, however, he learned that soldiering was not all fun, and in spite of his aptitude for oratory there were superior officers and duties. To these have been added the prospect of a stay in Cuba, and Colonel Billy seeks release. He cannot make political capital from a war record, since there is no longer a war, and he realizes that some of his Democratic friends would be only too glad to have him out of the way for a time while they launched their own presidential booms. He can resign, to be sure, but he is politician enough to know the people do not take kindly to that sort of thing, particularly when his regiment is about to be ordered out of the country for what may prove very unpleasant duty. Hence it can readily be seen that Colonel Bryan is not enjoying that peace which makes men round in form and pleasing in temperament.

LISBON, Sept. 22.—[Special]—Convicting evidence was produced against Frank Taylor, of Carmel, and the jury returned a verdict of guilty. He was sentenced to pay $10 and costs for assault and battery. The costs amount to $57.

Michael Vello, Teagarden's saloonist, pleaded guilty to 11 indictments, charging violation of liquor laws. On two he got $100 and costs and 10 days in jail. Sentence was suspended on the other nine providing Vello left the county or went into other business.

Leroy Barr, of Wellsville, will spend 20 days in jail and pay $125 and costs for keeping his place open on Sunday and selling on Sunday. One case was nollied.

Michael Claran, of Liverpool, pleaded guilty to three indictments charging him with selling liquor to Charles McGavern and Lulu Hayes. On one he got $50 and costs and $40 on each of the others.

Patrick Fitzpatrick, of Wellsville, acknowledged having sold on Sunday. He drew $60 and costs and ten days in jail.

Jane Hoffman, of Liverpool, faced five indictments for selling to habituals. She pleaded guilty to two and paid $80 and costs.

Harry Cochran, of Liverpool, gave liquor to minors in two instances and paid $10 and costs for each offense.

The committee having in charge the entertainment of Company E at Columbian park tomorrow one week met last evening in the office of Col. J. N. Taylor. All the members of the general committee were present, and the chairmen of the various committees appointed at the last meeting were also there.

The work to be done by the committee was reviewed, and new business was outlined.

The committee decided to make the affair a basket picnic and to extend invitations to Wellsville, Toronto, Steubenville, Rochester, Calcutta, Irondale and Salineville.

An invitation was extended to Judge P. C. Young to make an address to the company in the afternoon. Acceptance of the invitation is hourly expected by the committee.

The Grand Army will escort the boys to the park, and the Sons of Veterans, Woman's Relief corps and Red Cross society will have charge of the tables and eatables. The dinner will be served promptly at 12 o'clock.

The various sub-committees, which were represented, reported progress, and will make a detailed report to the general committee at its next meeting, which will be held next Monday evening.

MINISTER'S UNIQUE WAY.

How the Rev. A. B. Simpson Collected Funds For the Missionaries.

The Rev. Dr. A. B. Simpson of Nyack, N. Y., recently concluded at his tabernacle on Nyack heights a 17 days' convention of the supporters of the Christian and Missionary alliance and incidentally gathered in funds amounting to nearly $10,000. People, mostly women, came to the convention from all parts of the Union and camped in tents on the picturesque slope overlooking the Hudson.

"Brothers and sisters," he told his audience of nearly 1,000, "we have in our institute still a great many empty rooms, and you must put your missionaries in them. I will tell you what we are going to do, but first we must offer up a prayer for blessing." The prayer was an appeal for the spirit of generosity and cheerfulness to descend on the alliance. "Now, we have Tibet," said Dr. Simpson. "Who will send a missionary to Tibet? Your name or the name of any dear friend will be painted on the room door in the training institute, and you can pay the $200 by installments during the year. Now, who says Tibet?"

Tibet fell to the share of a benevolent looking matron in glasses, who later in the evening purchased a half share in a preacher for Japan. Japan, the doctor explained, was a small country. It was at the close of the meeting, and the bids were coming in slowly, and $100 would support a missionary there, or $50 a half share. There was an exciting competition for Cuba. Two persons were willing to pay for a missionary to the island, and there was a difficulty which of them should have the coveted honor. But Dr. Simpson was equal to it. "We will have two in Cuba," he said.

To the provider of funds for the Philippine islands it was promised that a beautiful American flag would be painted on the room door at the institute. The inducement did not stir up the expected enthusiasm, so Dr. Simpson invited four young men to bear the expense among them. The young men did not come forward, but a girl of 20 got up and said that her salary was small, but she would try to save $50 during the year for a Philippine missionary. Three others rose immediately, and the remaining $50 was obtained.—Chicago Tribune.

MINISTER'S UNIQUE WAY.

How the Rev. A. B. Simpson Collected Funds For the Missionaries.

The Rev. Dr. A. B. Simpson of Nyack, N. Y., recently concluded at his tabernacle on Nyack heights a 17 days' convention of the supporters of the Christian and Missionary alliance and incidentally gathered in funds amounting to nearly $10,000. People, mostly women, came to the convention from all parts of the Union and camped in tents on the picturesque slope overlooking the Hudson.

"Brothers and sisters," he told his audience of nearly 1,000, "we have in our institute still a great many empty rooms, and you must put your missionaries in them. I will tell you what we are going to do, but first we must offer up a prayer for blessing." The prayer was an appeal for the spirit of generosity and cheerfulness to descend on the alliance. "Now, we have Tibet," said Dr. Simpson. "Who will send a missionary to Tibet? Your name or the name of any dear friend will be painted on the room door in the training institute, and you can pay the $200 by installments during the year. Now, who says Tibet?"

REV. DR. A. B. SIMPSON.

Tibet fell to the share of a benevolent looking matron in glasses, who later in the evening purchased a half share in a preacher for Japan. Japan, the doctor explained, was a small country. It was at the close of the meeting, and the bids were coming in slowly, and $100 would support a missionary there, or $50 a half share. There was an exciting competition for Cuba. Two persons were willing to pay for a missionary to the island, and there was a difficulty which of them should have the coveted honor. But Dr. Simpson was equal to it. "We will have two in Cuba," he said.

To the provider of funds for the Philippine islands it was promised that a beautiful American flag would be painted on the room door at the institute. The inducement did not stir up the expected enthusiasm, so Dr. Simpson invited four young men to bear the expense among them. The young men did not come forward, but a girl of 20 got up and said that her salary was small, but she would try to save $50 during the year for a Philippine missionary. Three others rose immediately, and the remaining $50 was obtained.—Chicago Tribune.

THE END OF THE SONG.

A Thrilling Scene in the Field Hospital at Guasimas.

There is one incident of the day which shines out in my memory above all the others now as I lie in a New York hospital writing, says Edward Marshall in Scribner's Magazine. About a dozen of us were lying there. A continual chorus of moans rose through the tree branches overhead. The surgeons, with hands and bared arms dripping and clothes literally saturated with blood, were straining every nerve to prepare the wounded for the journey down to Siboney. Behind me lay Captain McClintock, with his lower leg bones literally ground to powder. He bore his pain as gallantly as he had led his men, and that is saying much. I think Major Brodie was also there. It was a doleful group. Amputation and death stared its members in their gloomy faces.

Suddenly a voice started softly:

"My country, 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of liberty,
Of thee I sing."

Other voices took it up:

"Land where my fathers died,
Land of the pilgrims' pride."

The quivering, quivering chorus, punctuated by groans and made spasmodic by pain, trembled up from that little group of wounded Americans in the midst of the Cuban solitude—the pluckiest, most heartfelt song that human beings ever sung. There was one voice that did not quite keep up with the others. It was so weak that I did not hear it until all the rest had finished with the line,

"Let freedom ring."

Then, halting, struggling, faint, it repeated slowly:

"Land—of—the—pilgrim's—pride.
"Let freedom ring!"

The last word was a woeful cry. One more son had died as died the fathers.

UNION MEN IN MEETING

Some Business Transacted by Trades Council.

GENERAL COMMITTEE RETAINED

Because the Sports Committee For Labor Day Have a Dispute to Settle—Inquiring About a Wisconsin Strike—Called on Merchants.

Trades Council last evening held a very interesting meeting.

After the usual routine business had been transacted the following delegates were seated: Grocery clerks, James McBane; shoemakers, S. G. Foley, John McVeigh, Charles Peterson; painters, William Irwin.

A communication was read from Thomas J. Kidd and associates, a defense committee, of Oskosh, Wis., soliciting aid for the woodworkers of that place who are on a strike. Since the communication was written, it is understood, the strike was settled, and the secretary of the council will ascertain the exact status of the case.

Chairman Weisend presented the final report of the Labor day committee and it was accepted, but the committee was continued for two weeks until the sports committee settle a dispute they have on hand.

The grievance committee reported that they had called on business men who were keeping their stores open after 7 o'clock, and some had agreed to close on time. As their work was not completed the committee was continued.

An informal discussion in regard to purchasing none but union labeled goods completed the business of the council.

MANY MEN SICK

But There Is Little Hope of the Fourth Being Ordered Home.

Major Speaks, of the Fourth Ohio, has returned from Porto Rico for a brief furlough, and is responsible for the statement that the climate is keeping the regiment sick, and scarcely half of the full force could walk if ordered to move. The death rate to the present time has not been high.

The regiment has in its ranks about 300 students and they are anxious to return to this country and resume their studies, but it is believed the regiment will be kept on the island. Private Dan Webster, of this city, is a member of the command.

FOR THE POOR FUND.

The Salvation Army Is Preparing For Winter.

The Salvation Army has what is known as a poor fund, and each fall collects money to be used in caring for the poor of large cities throughout the country.

Ensign Young, in command of the local station, is arranging East Liverpool's donation. He asks that all persons desiring to contribute, and the contribution can be money, food or clothing, notify him. The articles thus collected will be sold at the barracks next Monday and Tuesday, and the proceeds placed in the fund.

Some of the Sick.

Will Headley, of East End, who has been suffering with a broken arm for several weeks, is much improved. His father, Harry Headley, who has been ill with typhoid fever, is much improved, and will soon be able to be out.

Howard Moon, who has been very low at his home in Fourth street, suffering with appendicitis, will be out soon. He is now able to be out of bed, but not of his room.

On the River.

There have been heavy rains in the upper Monongahela valley, and the mark at the wharf in Pittsburgh this morning registered a rise of four inches over that of yesterday. The marks at the Broadway wharf this morning were the same as reported yesterday.

Packets are not running, and they will not begin their trips until a good stage of water is reached.

INSULTED A WOMAN

But No Law Could Be Found Covering the Case.

Recently an agent selling a carpet stretcher entered a well-known residence and insulted the lady of the house. She informed her husband who called upon a squire, but could not find a law that covered the case.

The angry husband promises to take the law in his own hands if he finds the agent. There have been several cases of this kind reported in the last few weeks and it is probable some one may get into trouble.

No Bonfires In the Streets.

Residents of West End are complaining because a number of people are in the habit of burning paper in the street. There is an ordinance prohibiting the practice, and the residents think it should be enforced in their part of the city.

Will Fight Next Week.

All the arrangements for the prize fight have been completed, and it is stated with authority that the fight will come off early next week. The place will not be far from this city. It will be a fight to a finish.

Should Stop It.

Small boys have already commenced the practice of congregating in front of the Grand and asking pedestrians for anything from a cent to a dime to enable them to see the show. The police should see that the practice is stopped at once.

Toadix Coming Home.

George Carey, of this city, who has been playing ball with the Minneapolis team this season, will return to the city next Monday. His last game with that team will be played in Chicago with the League club Sunday.

Another Good One.

The Huntley-Jackson last evening at the Grand presented "Three Hats" to a large audience. The company, as usual, pleased the people, while the specialties were unusually fine. Tonight, "The Fast Mail," will be played.

GRIM CHASED A MAN

Ed Buchheit Captured After a Short Time.

HE SETTLED IN COURT TODAY

Saloonist Michaels Assaulted at His Place in Second Street, and the Police Are After Chip Gamble and Alex Heakin.

Mayor Bough returned from Lisbon early last evening, and this morning had one case for his disposal when he came to his office.

On July 30 Ed Buchheit had a quarrel in Second street with a colored man named Charles Miller. Shortly afterward an information was made against him, but as he has been out of town most of the time he could not be apprehended. Last night Officer Grim saw him in Second street, and after a short chase he was captured and taken to jail. He was charged with disorderly conduct by fighting, and was fined $2 and costs, amounting to $6.60. He paid the amount and was released.

Some trouble occurred in the Pittsburgh house in Second street last evening between 9 and 10 o'clock, and the matter may soon be aired in police court. Chip Gamble and Alex Heakin went in the saloon which is run by a man named Micheals and asked for a drink. They were refused, and Micheals was immediately assaulted. He received several bad cuts about the head and some other injuries. This is the story he told the police but as neither of the men could be seen their story cannot be learned. Chief Johnson is now investigating the case, and some new developments may soon be made known.

There is a case in the minds of Chief Johnson and the mayor which they are keeping very quiet. Every attempt to get some information about it was unsuccessful. It has been learned, however, that the case is something out of the ordinary, and is one that when made known will make interesting reading.

POSTPONED.

The Cornelius Case Goes Over For a Week.

LISBON, Sept. 22.—[Special]—A number of Liverpool and Wellsville people were here today, summoned as witnesses in the Cornelius case, but the matter was not tried.

Prosecutor Brookes was very anxious for a continuance until David Cornelius, father of the young man, could be located as he is an important witness. A motion was filed and argued, and the case went over until week after next.

An effort was made to find Cornelius last night in Wellsville, but it was learned he had left that place Tuesday morning.

TWO MEN ARRESTED

For the Assault of Michaels Last Night.

At a late hour this afternoon it was learned that Gamble and Heakin, charged with assaulting Saloonist Michaels, were arrested about 10 o'clock last night by Officer McMillan. They were taken to jail in the patrol where they now are. There is no charge against them, as they are awaiting the result of the injuries of Michaels.

Michaels was improving this morning but this afternoon he is not so well. He is still in bed, and no charge by him will be made until he is able to be out. His head is badly cut, and the injuries inflicted about the eyes may cause him to lose the sight of one of them.

RESIGNED HIS POSITION.

Samuel C. Moore Has Entered a Chicago College.

Samuel C. Moore, of Lisbon, chief clerk to Colonel Penny, Second division, Fourth army corps, arrived home a few days ago from Huntsville, Ala. He has resigned his position in the army and left yesterday for Chicago, where he will enter the McCormick Theological seminary to prepare himself for the ministry.

Received an Invitation.

Postmaster Miskall has received from the postmasters' association an invitation to attend their annual session that will soon be held in Detroit. Mr. Miskall will be unable to accept their hospitality.

Knocked Mercer Out.

Winnie Mercer yesterday attempted to pitch for the Washington team against Cincinnati, but was knocked out of the box in the fourth inning when Cincinnati made six runs.

A MAN AND WOMAN

Amused a Large Crowd In the Diamond.

Two country people last evening furnished amusement for a number of persons.

The husband drove up in a buggy very much intoxicated, and the wife refused to get in with him. The man drove off, and the woman started for a livery stable to hire a rig. In the meantime the man returned and went in a nearby saloon, and the woman got in the buggy but he came out and caught her. A wordy war ensued, and Officer McMillan settled the difficulty and the woman started for home alone. When the man was released he made a short cut across the Horn switch to catch the rig, and the result is not known.

WILL TAKE THE LAND.

Council Has Settled With George C. Morton.

A majority of council met this morning in the office of Solicitor McGarry, and discussed the state of affairs in Bradshaw avenue. It was finally decided to abide by the decision of the courts and give Mr. Morton $1,200 for his land, and he will be satisfied at once and the fence will be removed.

Life Returning.

O life, dear life, with sunbeam finger touching This poor, damp brow, or flying freshly past On wings of mountain winds, or clasped fast In links of visionary embraces, clutching Me from the yawning grave— Can I believe thou yet hast power to save?

I see thee, O my life, like phantom giant, Stand on the hilltop large against the dawn, Upon the night black clouds retreating drawn In aspect wonderful, with hope defiant, And so majestic grown I scarce discern the image as my own.

O life, O love! Your diverse tones bewildering Make silence, like to meeting waves of sound, And force a lull in this world's noisy round; I dream of wisely white arms, lip of children— Never of ended wars, Save kisses sealing honorable scars.

Peace! No more battles save the combat glorious To which all earth and heaven do witness stand; The sword of the spirit taking in my hand, Shall go forth, for in new fields victorious The King yet grants that I His servant live or his good soldier die!

WILL NOT BE BUILT OUR ENGINES OF WAR

East End Will Not Have a Glass Plant.

THE MASS MEETING CALLED OFF

It Was Listed For Tonight, but the Promoters Decided It Would Amount to Nothing—Good Offers From Other Places—Steuenville May Win.

East End will not secure the proposed glass house. Last evening the parties, who proposed building the plant and have spent several weeks in endeavoring to secure a bonus of $3,500, notified the board of trade that all negotiations were off as they had decided not to build here. They succeeded in securing all but $700 of the needed amount, and it was the intention to hold a mass meeting in East End this evening to see if it could not be secured, but the decision of the interested parties is final and the meeting will not be held.

The reason given for the action is that it was too hard work securing a bonus here, and that the company have received much better offers from Toronto, Steuenville and Canton. Where they will build has not been decided, but the odds are decidedly in favor of Steuenville.

Beware of Ointments For Catarrh That Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and is made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Paper Bags For Travelers.

Comfort in traveling is an important consideration, and the newest idea for a journey is one worth regarding. Dodging railroad cinders and dust is something not to be thought of. When a thoroughly clean railroad trip is possible, the millennium will have arrived, and this period is still, according to all beliefs, a long distance off. But, owing to a simple thought of a practical man, the traveler can now protect his or her hat, which was out of the question before.

A humble paper bag, obtained from the nearest grocer, is the god of the machine. This is folded compactly and stowed away in the pocket (in the hand bag or purse if the traveler is a woman and is pocketless). Before the cars start the bag is opened, the hat placed therein, the bag pinned across its mouth and the whole laid in the rack. Thereafter, until the destination is all but reached, the traveler need have no thought of his headgear, for no dust or cinders can reach it. It will be found in the best of condition upon opening. So simple is this device that it is a wonder it was never thought of before.—New York Herald.

A Scotsman Who Ruled Russia.

Although not generally known, it is a matter of history that an alien, a Scotsman, once held the reins of government in Russia, and to him that country owes her civilization, government and present position among the nations. Patrick Gordon was born in Auchleuchries, Aberdeenshire, March 31, 1635. His father was of the Haddo branch of the Gordons, and his mother was an Ogilvie. He went to seek his fortune in Russia and became a soldier of great bravery in the Russian army in the time of Alexis I and had now attained the rank of colonel. By his bravery and success he gained the love of the army and the esteem of the whole nation and had under his control 12,000 newly formed soldiery, who were under foreign officers in the town of Moscow. Gordon himself had the czar's command not to leave the capital, but his authority extended over all provinces except those in which the southern army were engaged under General Shein, yet the latter had express orders from the czar not to undertake anything of moment with General Gordon's advice.—Scottish American.

UNCLE SAM'S NAVAL EXHIBIT AT THE OMAHA EXPOSITION.

Expensive Models of Naval Vessels. Interesting Exhibit of Ordnance. Daily Exhibitions of Docking the Illinois—A Warship's Compactness.

The exhibit of the navy department in the Government building at the Omaha exposition is attracting a great deal of attention from all classes of visitors. Among the most interesting of the exhibits are the models of naval vessels, including battleships, armored and unarmored cruisers, gunboats, monitors, rams, dispatch boats and the terrible dynamiter, the Vesuvius. These models are all built exactly to scale and cost an average of $6,000 each. One of the finest of these models, that of the new type of battleship, the Illinois, is exhibited in connection with a model drydock such as is used in repairing ships. This drydock was built specially for the Transmississippi exposition and cost $3,000. It is perfect in every detail, and exhibitions of docking the Illinois are given daily.

In the exhibit of ordnance for fighting these ships is a one-half model of a 13 inch gun, 40 feet long. A view of this monster and a consideration of the fact that battleships carry four of these guns, each weighing 68 tons and hurling projectiles weighing 1,100 pounds each, give one some idea of the massive strength of a first class war vessel. The breech and breech mechanism of this gun are the most wonderful parts of it. Although the breech plug is subjected to a pressure of 15 tons to the square inch when the gun is fired, it is loosened and opened by a single motion of the crank, which visitors are free to operate. There is also one of those wicked rapid fire guns which drove the Spanish from their guns and swept their ships to destruction at Manila and at Santiago. On this gun are shown the telescopic sight and the range finder, as well as the pointing mechanism, by which 35 aimed shots per minute may be made. This, however, seems slow when compared with the automatic rapid fire gun which throws 250 one pound shells per minute—the terror of torpedo boats. Projectiles of all sizes for the various guns are exhibited, from the monster 13 inch shell to the small but terribly penetrating bullet fired from the rifle used by the marines whenever they are called upon to make a landing and do military duty. Some very convincing evidences of the penetrating power of these bullets are shown.

There is a full sized Whitehead torpedo, with its "war head" and ready for business, which cost the government about $3,000 to produce. Although torpedoes were not much used in the late war, owing to the watchfulness of the lookouts and the power of the searchlight, they are still much to be dreaded for the work they can do under certain circumstances.

Resting near the big 13 inch gun and forming a fitting companion for it is a model of a 14,000 pound anchor. Its simplicity does not prevent its massiveness from attracting much attention.

Near by is a complete diver's outfit, including an air pump and a telephone. At first glance it seems a little strange that a man needs heavily weighted shoes and a heavy belt of lead to enable him to sink in the water, but they are very necessary parts of the diver's outfit.

A striking example of the compactness of a naval vessel is shown in a completely furnished stateroom, as occupied by a commissioned officer on one of the larger ships. While it is only a few feet each way, it contains everything necessary, from a tub to a fair sized writing desk, and there is room to spare.

The binnacle compass exhibited seems a Chinese puzzle to the uninitiated, but when explained by one of the attendants it appears very simple indeed and is most interesting.

Samples of the signal code flags hang from the ceiling, and visitors always wonder at the simple but perfect means by which ships communicate and orders are given at sea. There is also shown the distinctive flag of the president of the United States, interesting because so rarely seen. It is carried on all ships, but is hoisted only when the president is on board.

The uniforms worn by the jackies attract much attention, as pertaining exclusively to the men who have done such valiant service during the past few months. Besides these more notable exhibits there are countless smaller but not less interesting objects which it would take too long to mention.

To Restore Singing Birds.

A society of "bird restorers" has been organized in Boston for the purpose of replacing native song birds in their former haunts, protecting and encouraging them in the breeding season and planting colonies wherever practicable.—New York Tribune.

WILL NOT BE BUILT

East End Will Not Have a Glass Plant.

THE MASS MEETING CALLED OFF

It Was Listed For Tonight, but the Promoters Decided It Would Amount to Nothing—Good Offers From Other Places—Steubenville May Win.

East End will not secure the proposed glass house.

Last evening the parties, who proposed building the plant and have spent several weeks in endeavoring to secure a bonus of $3,500, notified the board of trade that all negotiations were off as they had decided not to build here. They succeeded in securing all but $700 of the needed amount, and it was the intention to hold a mass meeting in East End this evening to see if it could not be secured, but the decision of the interested parties is final and the meeting will not be held.

The reason given for the action is that it was too hard work securing a bonus here, and that the company have received much better offers from Toronto, Steubenville and Canton. Where they will build has not been decided, but the odds are decidedly in favor of Steubenville.

Paper Bags For Travelers.

Comfort in traveling is an important consideration, and the newest idea for a journey is one worth regarding. Dodging railroad cinders and dust is something not to be thought of. When a thoroughly clean railroad trip is possible, the millennium will have arrived, and this period is still, according to all beliefs, a long distance off. But, owing to a simple thought of a practical man, the traveler can now protect his or her hat, which was out of the question before.

A humble paper bag, obtained from the nearest grocer, is the god of the machine. This is folded compactly and stowed away in the pocket (in the hand bag or purse if the traveler is a woman and is pocketless). Before the cars start the bag is opened, the hat placed therein, the bag pinned across its mouth and the whole laid in the rack. Thereafter, until the destination is all but reached, the traveler need have no thought of his headgear, for no dust or cinders can reach it. It will be found in the best of condition upon opening. So simple is this device that it is a wonder it was never thought of before.—New York Herald.

A Scotsman Who Ruled Russia.

Although not generally known, it is a matter of history that an alien, a Scotsman, once held the reins of government in Russia, and to him that country owes her civilization, government and present position among the nations. Patrick Gordon was born in Auchleuchries, Aberdeenshire, March 31, 1835. His father was of the Haddo branch of the Gordons, and his mother was an Ogilvie. He went to seek his fortune in Russia and became a soldier of great bravery in the Russian army in the time of Alexis I and had now attained the rank of colonel. By his bravery and success he gained the love of the army and the esteem of the whole nation and had under his control 12,000 newly formed soldiery, who were under foreign officers in the town of Moscow. Gordon himself had the czar's command not to leave the capital, but his authority extended over all provinces except those in which the southern army were engaged under General Shein, yet the latter had express orders from the czar not to undertake anything of moment with General Gordon's advice.—Scottish American.

A Chance Gone By.

She sighed as she read the paper. Then she said with calmness fine, "This man who is just made colonel. Used to be an old beau of mine." —Chicago Record.

In Shantytown.

Mike—Norah, darlint, th' way ye do be swingin' thot orin one wud think ye wud goin to th' crool war.
Norah—Well, ye blockhead, can't ye see I'm goin to th' front?
And the inoffensive shirt was pressed to the back.—Vim.

OUR ENGINES OF WAR

UNCLE SAM'S NAVAL EXHIBIT AT THE OMAHA EXPOSITION.

Expensive Models of Naval Vessels. Interesting Exhibit of Ordnance. Daily Exhibitions of Docking the Illinois—A Warship's Compactness.

The exhibit of the navy department in the Government building at the Omaha exposition is attracting a great deal of attention from all classes of visitors. Among the most interesting of the exhibits are the models of naval vessels, including battleships, armored and unarmored cruisers, gunboats, monitors, rams, dispatch boats and the terrible dynamiter, the Vesuvius. These models are all built exactly to scale and cost an average of $6,000 each. One of the finest of these models, that of the new type of battleship, the Illinois, is exhibited in connection with a model drydock such as is used in repairing ships. This drydock was built specially for the Transmississippi exposition and cost $3,000. It is perfect in every detail, and exhibitions of docking the Illinois are given daily.

In the exhibit of ordnance for fighting these ships is a one-half model of a 13 inch gun, 40 feet long. A view of this monster and a consideration of the fact that battleships carry four of these guns, each weighing 68 tons and hurling projectiles weighing 1,100 pounds each, give one some idea of the massive strength of a first class war vessel. The breech and breech mechanism of this gun are the most wonderful parts of it. Although the breech plug is subjected to a pressure of 15 tons to the square inch when the gun is fired, it is loosened and opened by a single motion of the crank, which visitors are free to operate. There is also one of those wicked rapid fire guns which drove the Spanish from their guns and swept their ships to destruction at Manila and at Santiago. On this gun are shown the telescopic sight and the range finder, as well as the pointing mechanism, by which 35 aimed shots per minute may be made. This, however, seems slow when compared with the automatic rapid fire gun which throws 250 one pound shells per minute—the terror of torpedo boats. Projectiles of all sizes for the various guns are exhibited, from the monster 13 inch shell to the small but terribly penetrating bullet fired from the rifle used by the marines whenever they are called upon to make a landing and do military duty. Some very convincing evidences of the penetrating power of these bullets are shown.

There is a full sized Whitehead torpedo, with its "war head" and ready for business, which cost the government about $3,000 to produce. Although torpedoes were not much used in the late war, owing to the watchfulness of the lookouts and the power of the searchlight, they are still much to be dreaded for the work they can do under certain circumstances.

Resting near the big 13 inch gun and forming a fitting companion for it is a model of a 14,000 pound anchor. Its simplicity does not prevent its massiveness from attracting much attention.

Near by is a complete diver's outfit, including an air pump and a telephone. At first glance it seems a little strange that a man needs heavily weighted shoes and a heavy belt of lead to enable him to sink in the water, but they are very necessary parts of the diver's outfit.

A striking example of the compactness of a naval vessel is shown in a completely furnished stateroom, as occupied by a commissioned officer on one of the larger ships. While it is only a few feet each way, it contains everything necessary, from a tub to a fair sized writing desk, and there is room to spare.

The binnacle compass exhibited seems a Chinese puzzle to the uninitiated, but when explained by one of the attendants it appears very simple indeed and is most interesting.

Samples of the signal code flags hang from the ceiling, and visitors always wonder at the simple but perfect means by which ships communicate and orders are given at sea. There is also shown the distinctive flag of the president of the United States, interesting because so rarely seen. It is carried on all ships, but is hoisted only when the president is on board.

The uniforms worn by the jackies attract much attention, as pertaining exclusively to the men who have done such valiant service during the past few months. Besides these more notable exhibits there are countless smaller but not less interesting objects which it would take too long to mention.

Enterprise at Santiago.

Uncle Sam's children are soon imbued with the spirit of enterprise. Santiago is already making an urgent appeal for fast mails.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

To Restore Singing Birds.

A society of "bird restorers" has been organized in Boston for the purpose of replacing native song birds in their former haunts, protecting and encouraging them in the breeding season and planting colonies wherever practicable.—New York Tribune.

UNION LABELS.

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others?

The Union Label in every industry is a guarantee of fair wages, decent working hours, and union labor employed.

PATRONIZE UNION CLERKS.

All members of the R. C. N. P. A. can show this card. Ask for it when making your purchases. Endorsed by the A. F. of L.

ONE-THIRD ACTUAL SIZE. COLOR IS CHANGED EACH QUARTER. Good only during months named in lower left hand corner and when properly signed, and STAMPED with the number of the Local.

The Journeymen Tailor's Label is to be found in the inside breast pocket of the coat, on the under side of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants. It is printed in black ink on white linen.

UNION MADE HATS.

This Label is about an inch and a half square, and is printed on buff-colored paper. It is placed on every union made hat before it leaves the workman's hands. If a dealer takes a label from one hat and places it in another, or has any detached labels in his store, do not buy from him, as his labels may be counterfeited, and his hats may be the product of scab or non-union labor.

UNION MADE CLOTHES.

You will find the linen label attached by machine stitching to the inside breast pocket of the coat, on the inside of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants.

BICYCLE LABEL.

"Do unto others as ye would that others should do unto you." You will endorse the "Golden Rule" by buying and riding bicycles bearing this Label. The colors are as follows: The Union shield is in red, white and blue, on a background of pea green, bordered by gold. The Label will be placed on the upper front side of the tube that receives the seat post.

BLUE LABEL CIGARS.

This label is printed in black ink on light blue paper, and is pasted on the cigar-box. Don't mix it up with the U. S. revenue label on the box, as the latter is nearly of a similar color.

TOBACCO LABEL.

The above Label, printed on blue paper, will be found on all plug tobacco and on the wrappers of chewing tobacco manufactured in union tobacco factories.

UNION BREAD AND CRACKERS.

This is a full size facsimile of the Label of the Bakers' and Confectioners' union. It is printed on fine white paper and is pasted on each loaf of union-made bread. It is an evidence that the bread is made under fair and wholesome conditions, and in clean and healthy bakeries. Following is the confectioners' and cracker Label:

BOTH HAVE ACCEPTED

Young Men's Christian Association Officials Coming.

SECRETARY COMES OCTOBER 1

But the Physical Director Will Not Be Here Until Two Weeks Later—Secretary Kling Has So Informed the Board of Trustees of this Place.

State Secretary Kling, of the Young Men's Christian association, has written to the board of trustees of the association in this city advising them of the fact that Mr. Platts, of New York state, and Mr. Rosenberg, of Cleveland, have accepted the positions which the board tendered them at a recent meeting.

Mr. Platts will assume charge of the association the first week in October, while Mr. Rosenberg will not be here until the middle of the month.

The next regular meeting of the trustees will be held the first Friday in October.

WOODBURY ACCEPTED.

General Jackson Offered a Place on War Investigation Commission—Dr. Keen Arrived.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The report that ex-Governor Woodbury of Vermont had been asked to accept a place on the investigation commission and that he has accepted was confirmed at the White House yesterday. He is the seventh member of the commission. There are two places still to be filled.

NASHVILLE, Sept. 22.—General W. H. Jackson received a telegram yesterday from President McKinley inviting him to act as a member of the board to investigate the war department. General Jackson took the offer under advisement and will return an answer to-day. His friends say he will accept.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Among the passengers on the Red Star liner Nordland, which arrived here yesterday, was Dr. J. W. J. Keen, president of the Jefferson Medical college of Philadelphia. He has been tendered a place on the proposed commission to investigate the war department. He did not know whether or not he would accept the place on the commission.

ODD FELLOWS PARADED.

Reviewed by Some of Their Officials and Others in Boston.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 22.—Odd Fellows to the number of 20,000 paraded in Boston yesterday beneath a bright sky and through streets handsomely decorated in their honor. There were many spectators.

The line was reviewed officially by the members of the sovereign grand lodge, Mayor Quincy and members of both branches of the city government, Governor Wolcott and staff and members of the general court, Chief Marshal Merriman and department commander of the patriarchs militant of Massachusetts, General Edgar H. Emerson.

THE BRIDGEPORT MYSTERY.

Now the Body Is Said to Be That of Emma Gill—Arrest Made.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 22.—A new development in the Yellow mill pond mystery was made known yesterday with the announcement of the arrest in Hartford of Walter O. Foster. The police have reached the conclusion that the young woman whose dismembered corpse was found in the pond last week was Emma Gill, daughter of Harry Gill of Southington.

Young Foster is accused of having been an accomplice in the murder of Miss Gill.

Visited by Terrible Floods.

MADRID, Sept. 22.—The southern part of Spain has been visited by terrible floods. At Herrera, near Cadiz, 80 persons have been drowned. A great number of cattle have perished and the olive harvest is lost, especially in the provinces of Seville and Granada. There have been many deaths in other parts of the flooded country.

Cervera Reached Spain.

SANTANDER, Sept. 22.—The ship bearing Cervera and the Spanish prisoners reached here yesterday. When Captain Eulate came ashore he was cheered, being mistaken for Cervera. The admiral later came ashore and left for the capital.

Beaver County Fair Excursions.

Sept. 28, 29 and 30 low rate excursion tickets will be sold to Beaver, Pa., from Wellsville and intermediate ticket stations for the fair; return tickets good Saturday, Oct. 1.

GIVING PRESIDENT CONCERN

Asked For Recall of Some Troops From Porto Rico and Applications For Discharges.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Senator Platt of New York called on the president yesterday. He said, after leaving the White House, that he had only talked with the president concerning New York politics.

Representatives C. W. Stone and Ferris were among the president's callers yesterday. Mr. Ferris talked with him briefly concerning the conduct of the approaching campaign, while Mr. Stone's visit was devoted to an effort to have the Pennsylvania troops, at present in the field in Porto Rico, recalled and others substituted in their place. The president promised to give attention to the request.

The general subject of the recall of the Porto Rican troops is said to be giving the president some concern, as is also the question of the discharge of individual soldiers in this and other departments of the army. Many applications are daily made for such discharges and to some of them the president gives personal attention. He has laid down no general rule for conduct in such matters, but allows the circumstances in each case to control.

General Garcia Expected.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—It is expected by members of the Cuban delegation that General Calixto Garcia, second in command of the Cuban forces during the war, will come to this country in the course of the next two weeks, visiting New York, Baltimore and Washington.

General Miller to Command.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—General Miller, now in command at San Francisco, will command the reinforcements ordered to Manila. Batteries A and D of the California artillery will go with the expedition.

Weather Forecast.

Fair, followed by showers tonight; warmer; brisk southerly winds.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 22.—St. Patrick's church at Audenried, the first church erected in the Audenried parish, is slowly sinking into the mines and abandonment of the property will in all probability be necessary. The church is valued at $8,000.

The Antiquity of Glass.

Glass has been employed, we know, both for decorative and domestic purposes since the dawn of civilization. The earliest remains date from Egypt 3064 B. C. and are preserved in the British museum. It is an amulet, in the form of a lion's head, of opaque blue color, with hieroglyphics that determine its date. On the rock cut tombs of the necropolis of Memphis glass blowers were depicted as early as 3900 B. C. Stories are told by Pliny, Josephus and other writers to account for its discovery, but these are very doubtful, so that we have only to rely upon facts attested by actual remains.

The discovery was doubtless fortuitous. Such lucky finds are often the work of chance. When it occurred, we cannot determine; but, so far as we know, Egypt, as she was the germ of all civilization, was also the mother of this art, which she applied to a multitude of purposes, strangely excepting that which we deem most necessary—namely, to admit light into buildings.

The dwellers by the Nile handed down the art to the Phoenicians, who in like manner bequeathed it to the Assyrians. Then it was passed along to the Persians and the Greeks, then to the Romans and the Byzantines, who in turn communicated it to the Venetians. The monks of the middle ages appropriated it to beautify their Gothic temples, and so it came down the centuries to modern times.—Frank H. Vize, teller in Woman's Home Companion.

Bismarck's Ancestors.

It is stated that the Bismarcks first made their appearance in Brandenburg as cloth merchants. In 1430 or thereabout it is believed that one Claus Bismarck advanced a sum of money to the Margrave Ludwig, which was secured upon the customs of his native town. The citizens, however, rebelling against this arrangement, the margrave assigned to Claus Bismarck the fief of Burgstall, and it was in this manner that the nobility of the family began. In the middle of the sixteenth century the Bismarcks came under the sway of the Hohenzollerns, to whom they have ever remained faithful vassals.—London Globe.

BOTH HAVE ACCEPTED

Young Men's Christian Association Officials Coming.

SECRETARY COMES OCTOBER 1

But the Physical Director Will Not Be Here Until Two Weeks Later—Secretary Kling Has So Informed the Board of Trustees of this Place.

State Secretary Kling, of the Young Men's Christian association, has written to the board of trustees of the association in this city advising them of the fact that Mr. Platts, of New York state, and Mr. Rosenberg, of Cleveland, have accepted the positions which the board tendered them at a recent meeting.

Mr. Platts will assume charge of the association the first week in October, while Mr. Rosenberg will not be here until the middle of the month.

The next regular meeting of the trustees will be held the first Friday in October.

WOODBURY ACCEPTED.

General Jackson Offered a Place on War Investigation Commission—Dr. Keen Arrived.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The report that ex-Governor Woodbury of Vermont had been asked to accept a place on the investigation commission and that he has accepted was confirmed at the White House yesterday. He is the seventh member of the commission. There are two places still to be filled.

NASHVILLE, Sept. 22.—General W. H. Jackson received a telegram yesterday from President McKinley inviting him to act as a member of the board to investigate the war department. General Jackson took the offer under advisement and will return an answer to-day. His friends say he will accept.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Among the passengers on the Red Star liner Nordland, which arrived here yesterday, was Dr. J. W. J. Keen, president of the Jefferson Medical college of Philadelphia. He has been tendered a place on the proposed commission to investigate the war department. He did not know whether or not he would accept the place on the commission.

ODD FELLOWS PARADED.

Reviewed by Some of Their Officials and Others in Boston.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 22.—Odd Fellows to the number of 20,000 paraded in Boston yesterday beneath a bright sky and through streets handsomely decorated in their honor. There were many spectators.

The line was reviewed officially by the members of the sovereign grand lodge, Mayor Quincy and members of both branches of the city government, Governor Wolcott and staff and members of the general court, Chief Marshal Merriman and department commander of the patriarchs militant of Massachusetts, General Edgar H. Emerson.

THE BRIDGEPORT MYSTERY.

Now the Body Is Said to Be That of Emma Gill—Arrest Made.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 22.—A new development in the Yellow mill pond mystery was made known yesterday with the announcement of the arrest in Hartford of Walter O. Foster. The police have reached the conclusion that the young woman whose dismembered corpse was found in the pond last week was Emma Gill, daughter of Harry Gill of Southington.

Young Foster is accused of having been an accomplice in the murder of Miss Gill.

Visited by Terrible Floods.

MADRID, Sept. 22.—The southern part of Spain has been visited by terrible floods. At Herrera, near Cadiz, 80 persons have been drowned. A great number of cattle have perished and the olive harvest is lost, especially in the provinces of Seville and Grenada. There have been many deaths in other parts of the flooded country.

Cervera Reached Spain.

SANTANDER, Sept. 22.—The ship bearing Cervera and the Spanish prisoners reached here yesterday. When Captain Eulate came ashore he was cheered, being mistaken for Cervera. The admiral later came ashore and left for the capital.

GIVING PRESIDENT CONCERN

Asked For Recall of Some Troops From Porto Rico and Applications For Discharges.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Senator Platt of New York called on the president yesterday. He said, after leaving the White House, that he had only talked with the president concerning New York politics.

Representatives C. W. Stone and Ferris were among the president's callers yesterday. Mr. Ferris talked with him briefly concerning the conduct of the approaching campaign, while Mr. Stone's visit was devoted to an effort to have the Pennsylvania troops, at present in the field in Porto Rico, recalled and others substituted in their place. The president promised to give attention to the request.

The general subject of the recall of the Porto Rican troops is said to be giving the president some concern, as is also the question of the discharge of individual soldiers in this and other departments of the army. Many applications are daily made for such discharges and to some of them the president gives personal attention. He has laid down no general rule for conduct in such matters, but allows the circumstances in each case to control.

General Garcia Expected.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—It is expected by members of the Cuban delegation that General Calixto Garcia, second in command of the Cuban forces during the war, will come to this country in the course of the next two weeks, visiting New York, Baltimore and Washington.

THE ADVERTISERS.

The Evening News Review has the largest bonafide PAID daily circulation of any paper published in East Liverpool, and the largest circulation in Wellsville of any daily paper published in East Liverpool. Keen witted and wide awake business men and advertisers will make note of these facts.

HARRY PALMER,
Owner and Manager.

TO BUSINESS MEN.

The combination prices of the NEWS REVIEW, advertisement in paper and bills from said advertisement, are cheaper than any other daily paper in the city, while the workmanship, material and inks made use of are incomparably superior to those of would-be competitors. Test the matter. We will prove the truth of our assertion.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The gas well on the Abrams farm at Cannon's mill will be in today.

A. G. Mason has broken ground for a handsome residence to be erected in Seventh street.

The meeting of the stockholders of the campground will be held tomorrow evening.

John Roberts has accepted a position as foreman of the Burford decorating department.

Miss Anna Thompson will entertain friends this evening at her home in Fifth street.

Treasurer Smith and Recorder Crosser, of Lisbon, were in the city today on business.

Frank Hates, a private in Company E, has returned to his work in a local foundry.

Mr. Ernst, of the U. S. S. Magnet, is in the city, the guest of his sister, Mrs. William Higginson, Fourth street.

Miss Gertrude Golden last evening very pleasantly entertained a number of friends at her home in Shadyside avenue.

Joe Wilson and Charles McKee spent the day on the Virginia side of the river fishing. They will return to the city this evening.

The scholars of room 11 in the Central building have draped the desk that was occupied by Flora Carman before she died yesterday morning.

Thomas Savage, the manager of the telegraph office at Salineville, was in the city yesterday, the guest of his brother, Yardmaster Savage.

The noon train today was 20 minutes late in arriving at the Second street station. The delay was caused by heavy business out the main line.

Presiding Elder Jackson, of the Steubenville district of the Methodist Episcopal conference, will preach at the First M. E. church next Sunday.

The bicycle race to have taken place between the colored riders of the city has been postponed until Friday afternoon. There are nine entries in the race.

Samuel Carey, of East Market street, today attended the annual reunion of the Fifth Pennsylvania artillery in Pittsburg. Mr. Carey was a member of that corps during the Civil war.

Miss Belle Smith, the young woman who was released from the infirmary several days, has not as yet appeared at the office of the trustees to be sent back to that institution. She is still in the city.

A splendid program has been arranged for the free concert to be given at the Methodist Protestant church tomorrow evening. Some of the best singers in the city have consented to take part, and a delightful evening is anticipated.

The funeral of Flora Carman who died at the home of her parents in Union street early yesterday morning, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The services were in charge of Rev. John Lloyd Lee, and the interment was made in Spring Grove cemetery.

This morning Miss Margaret Ryan and Thomas Priory were married in St. Aloysius church by Father Smythe. Mr. and Mrs. Priory left on the noon train for an extended trip through the east. They will make their home in this city.

A number of cases have been filed in the court of Squire Hill, and are set for trial Saturday. They are as follows: J. W. Moore versus Jack and Nancy Davis, for $32.26; James Provo, for $21.41; J. W. Bennett versus James Webber, for $5.

The Ohio Valley Co. have completed the work of laying their new line across the river. The connections were made this morning, and the gas will be turned in the line within a few days. The laying of the pipes in the river occupied less than two days' time.

EVENING NEWS REVIEW.

14TH YEAR. NO. 89.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., THURSDAY, SEPT. 22, 1898.

TWO CENTS

BLAMED BY ALGER.

Commanders Held Responsible
In Speech at Knoxville.

SAID THEY SENT GOOD REPORTS.

General Sanger and Waites Made Strong
Accusations Before Alger In the Pres-
Lexington Against Some Wrongs.

KNOXVILLE, Sept. 22.—The secretary of war, who yesterday inspected Camp Poland and reviewed the enlisted men encamped there, made a speech to the commanding officers at General McKee's headquarters yesterday morning, in which he fixed the blame for the sickness in the different camps through the country on the commanding officers.

At one point he said that the troops would have been moved from Chickamauga, long before they were, if the conditions said to exist had been known. Said he:

"We received only good reports at Washington from the commanding officers, and it was supposed that the outside reports were exaggerated.

"The commanders of camps were responsible for the condition of their camps, and if the men are not well cared for and if the hospital and sanitary conditions are bad the commanding officer must answer for it.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 22.—At the conference here Tuesday evening of Secretary Alger with General Breckinridge, the commander of Camp Hamilton, and other officers, General Sanger said while the division hospital may be a good thing, that as it was conducted had been a disgrace to the service; that it had deprived the regiments of their surgeons and caused hardships on the sick who should have had better attention at the proper time. Surgeon General Sternberg in reply insisted that all requisitions had been honored in Washington, and that any medical men failing to do their duty should be reported.

General Waites told Secretary Alger that the neglect of some quartermasters to furnish supplies was criminal. While in Chickamauga he frequently made requisitions which were not honored.

An imperative order had been sent to have all water boiled. He made a requisition on Quartermaster General Lee for water boilers. No attention was paid to his requisition and after he repeatedly urged Quartermaster Lee to send the boilers, and telling how the men were contracting typhoid fever, he was met with a reply which read:

"The war department does not furnish boilers." General Waites then purchased the boilers himself, but the seeds of typhoid had been sown and the daily report showed the list of deaths and of cases in the hospitals.

Pointing at Quartermaster Luddington General White said: "These men can not say it was somebody else's fault. It was the fault of Quartermaster Lee, and it was the fault of Quartermaster Luddington, who is standing right there."

Luddington made no reply to White.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—It was stated at the quartermaster's department of the army yesterday that the claim made by certain officers that boilers were not furnished for boiling water at Chickamauga is not true. On the same date that Chief Quartermaster Lee telegraphed for the boilers 2,000 were sent and a little later 500 more. It was also stated that the soldiers would not drink the boiled water because it had a flat taste, and preferred to drink the fresh water.

THREATENED OTIS.

Cleveland Man, Whose Son Died, Said an Organization Would Urge Charges Against Him.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 22.—Mr. O. W. Metcalf, living at 50 Linwood street, this city, whose son, Burton Metcalf, died recently in San Francisco of typhoid pneumonia contracted while at Camp Merritt as a member of the United States regulars, will take steps to have charges preferred against General Otis, now with the American forces in the Philippines. Mr. Metcalf said yesterday in part:

"I am a member of an organization made up of people all over the country who have lost relatives or friends who had enlisted in the regular army for service in the Philippines. These men died through exposure on that pestilential spot known as Camp Merritt. Each member of this organization will bring pressure to bear on his congressman to have charges preferred against General Otis, who located the camp where it was."

He said the organization was large and influential.

TO PROTECT CLERGY.

Otis Told to Investigate Report That
tain Catholic Priests.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Monsignor Martinelli, the apostolic delegate in Washington Tuesday, received a cablegram from Cardinal Rampolla, secretary of the vatican, informing him that the bishop of New Segovia, Philippine islands, and several Catholic priests had been arrested by the insurgents and were imprisoned and being brutally treated by their captors.

Monsignor Martinelli presented the facts, as communicated to him, to Acting Secretary of War Meiklejohn, who directed that General Otis be informed of the situation of the priests and asked to protect them from bad treatment, if they were within his jurisdiction, which Adjutant General Corbin did.

In his reply General Otis said in substance:

"Believe reports of extent of brutality to Spanish priests exaggerated. Will send officer to investigate, which will require several days. New Segovia bishopric 100 miles distant."

IN MEMORY OF CAPRON.

Prominent Men Gathered at the Interment in Arlington Cemetery.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The remains of Captain Allyn Capron, one of the notable figures of the Santiago campaign, and father of Captain Allyn K. Capron of the rough riders, who fell in the first battle of the war, were buried at Arlington National cemetery yesterday with military honors. The funeral was attended by a large number of prominent army officers, including Major General Miles and members of his staff. Among the many floral tributes was a wreath of orchids and lilies sent by the president and Mrs. McKinley from the White House conservatory.

Rev. Alfred Harding conducted the Episcopal burial service.

TO CARE FOR SICK.

sistant Surgeons, Nurses and Others.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The following dispatch was received at the war department last evening from Colonel Kimball, depot quartermaster in New York:

"NEW YORK, Sept. 21.
Hon. D. G. Meiklejohn, Assistant Secretary of War, Washington:

"Steamer Berlin sailed at 4 o'clock with the following persons on board: Fourteen acting assistant surgeons, 2 Red Cross nurses, 46 contract nurses, 5 enlisted men, 2 postal clerks, 16 passengers, on orders from the war department; 28 hospital corps men."

"KIMBALL."

Miss Barton Called on McKinley.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Miss Clara Barton of the Red Cross society, accompanied by a party of friends, made a call upon the president yesterday. Miss Barton stated that while there had been more or less reference to the work of the Red Cross in Cuba, she had made nothing like an official report.

CORDIAL TO AMERICANS.

Canadians Paid More Attention to Marblehead's Men Than to Crews of British Vessels.

QUEBEC, Sept. 22.—The monument to the French explorer, Champlain, was unveiled yesterday.

Three British warships, the Renown, the Indefatigable and the Talbot, arrived here several days ago to participate in the ceremonies, but her majesty's seamen did not get the spirited reception given the battered and bruised old United States cruiser Marblehead and her little handful of Yankee sailors fresh from the stormy scenes on the south coast of Cuba.

At the unveiling ceremonies the Marblehead men were given the position of honor facing the monument and they had all the time the lion's share of the crowd's admiration.

FOR MURDERING MISSIONARIES.

Governor of Sierra Leone Offered a Reward For the Guilty.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Consul Williams, at Sierra Leone, has informed the department of state that the governor of Sierra Leone has offered a reward of £10 to any person who will furnish information that will lead to the apprehension and conviction of the murderers of the American missionaries at Rotofunk and Tiama on May 3 and 8 last.

President Changed Time to Start.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The president has decided to postpone his departure for the west until the second week in October, giving himself only time to reach Omaha by the 12th.

Captain Worden Dead.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The war department was advised yesterday that Captain C. A. Worden of the Seventh infantry died yesterday, at Fort Logan, Colo.

A YELLOW FEVER CASE

One Arrived on a Transport
From Cuba.

RESTARTED THE DETENTION CAMP.

General Wheeler Compelled to Do So at Camp Wikoff—Other Sick on the Same
Transport and on Another Vessel—Two
Died at the Camp.

CAMP WIKOFF, MONTAUK POINT, L. I., Sept. 22.—The transport Seguranc arrived yesterday from Cuba with what was said to be one unmistakable case of yellow fever aboard. The transport brought sick and convalescent soldiers from the hospitals at Siboney. The boarding officer, Dr. Magruder, had been ordered back to Washington in the absence of anticipation of the receipt of any more yellow fever cases. General Wheeler decided to send one of the camp surgeons to inspect the Seguranc and to arrange for the removal of the sick to the detention hospital, which will now have to be reopened. The yellow fever patient on board the Seguranc is isolated and will be kept on the vessel for the present. The Seguranc brought 40 men who were not able to care for themselves and 35 convalescents. All these men will be transferred to the detention camp.

The City of Mexico also arrived at the camp yesterday with Troop M of the Tenth regular cavalry, which was left behind in Cuba to care for the belongings of the regiment. There were 76 men in all, 18 of whom are sick. There were 496 patients in the general hospital yesterday. Three hundred and fifty of the men in the hospital were seriously ill.

Deaths reported yesterday were:

Lieutenant Alfred Roberts of Company F, Seventy-first New York volunteers, and Charles Gunge of Troop A, Sixth cavalry.

OVER 100 FEVER PATIENTS.

That Many Were at Camp Meade, but Health Conditions Were Reported Improved.

CAMP MEADE, MIDDLETOWN, Pa., Sept. 22.—There were still over 100 fever patients in the division hospitals yesterday, and they will be taken away by city hospitals as fast as they are able to be moved. Major Joseph K. Weaver, surgeon in charge of the Second division hospital, said the health conditions were much improved. There was very little sickness in camp, outside of the two New York regiments which arrived recently from Camp Black. Dr. Gordon Ewing of Philadelphia was in charge of the headquarters of the national relief committee in camp, and was supplying the troops with stationary and writing material and the hospitals with delicacies.

The Seventh Ohio regiment is expected to start for Columbus today over the Baltimore and Ohio for muster out at the expiration of a 30-day furlough. This may complete the departure of troops from Camp Meade until the final movement to the West Indies and Philippines. The Fourth New Jersey is expected to arrive Friday night from Sea Girt to complete the organization of the Second corps. With the probable exception of the Fourteenth Pennsylvania none of the troops will be mustered out before the peace commission concludes its negotiations with Spain.

The trial of Major Charles R. Parke of Scranton has been called off and efforts are being made to hush up the matter. Parke and his attorneys, however, will not have it that way. The major has been under arrest for ten days for refusing to accept descriptive lists of patients delivered to the Second division hospital while he was surgeon in charge. Such an order was never served on him. The charges will probably be dropped and Parke restored to his position of executive officer of the hospital.

Major Jackson of St. Louis has relieved Major Weaver as surgeon of the Second division hospital.

Private George W. Carroll, Company M, Second Tennessee, fell from a trolley car in Harrisburg yesterday afternoon and was seriously injured. The Pennsylvania Railroad company has discontinued the special trains to camp on Saturdays and Sundays. Regular trains will make stops at Camp Meade station.

William M. Brown, cook for Company C, Two Hundred and First New York, died yesterday of typhoid fever.

REPORTED ONE DEATH.

cated Improved Conditions.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—General Lawton's report of the health conditions of the American troops at Santiago last night indicated a distinct improvement. The number of sick had been reduced more than 400 during the two days previous and only one death was reported.

General Lawton's dispatch to the war department was as follows:

"SANTIAGO, Sept. 21.

Adjutant General, Washington:
"Sick, 766; fever 434; new cases, 78; returned to duty, 85. Death—Private Frederick, Company K, Ninth United States volunteer infantry, Sept. 20, cause not known. No report received from Fifth United States infantry and Ninth United States volunteer infantry."
"LAWTON, Major General."

A G. A. R. ESCORT.

Mrs. Jefferson Davis Accepted It to Convey Winnie's Remains to Station
at Narragansett Pier.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., Sept. 22.—Mrs. Jefferson Davis received the offer yesterday for an escort for the remains of her daughter from the hotel to the railway station today from the commander of the local G. A. R. post. The offer was accepted.

PINGREE RENOMINATED.

The Michigan Republican Convention Also
Ideas—Alger Resolution.

DETROIT, Sept. 22.—Governor Pingree was unanimously renominated by acclamation yesterday afternoon by the Michigan state convention. His reform ideas and efforts toward regulating alleged inequalities of taxation were heartily commended in the platform adopted, and many members of his party who have heretofore not been in accord with the governor joined in the cheering when he appeared and made a characteristic speech of acceptance.

On the war issue the resolutions say: "We endorse the present national administration and express confidence in the honesty, integrity and patriotism of President McKinley. During the trying times that culminated in a war with Spain he displayed rare ability and discretion, until the final cessation of hostilities, which we hope will speedily result in permanent peace."

"We endorse our honored secretary of war and commend his conscientious, patriotic and unselfish devotion to the honor of the nation and welfare of the army. We denounce the unjust attacks made on him and offer him our undivided support and confidence."

"We reaffirm the principles of the St. Louis platform and pledge them our support as a sure guarantee of national prosperity and honor. We stand upon the existing gold standard and condemn the proposition to admit silver to free and unlimited coinage at the ratio of 16 to 1 by this country alone."

GREETED ROUGH RIDERS.

President at the White House.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—President McKinley yesterday informally received a delegation of about a dozen members of the Roosevelt rough rider regiment. A majority of the delegation were from New Mexico. The president spoke with earnest enthusiasm of the work of the regiment in the Santiago campaign, saying that he was pleased to have the opportunity on his own behalf, and on behalf of the country at large to thank the regiment, through the present delegation, for the work it had done.

"You have not only done well," he said, "but I have no doubt you would all be willing to again serve your country in an emergency."

The response was that they would be to a man.

"We want our colonel to raise a brigade, instead of a regiment, next time," said one of the younger members of the party.

The president also congratulated the soldiers upon their good fortune in receiving competent officers to lead them, and met with a hearty response to all that he said about Colonel Roosevelt and Generals Wood and Young.

SPANISH SOLDIERS SAILED.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Sept. 20.—(Delayed in transmission.)—The repatriation of the Spanish soldiers began today. Four hundred men, of whom 200 hundred were sick and 200 belonged to the engineer corps, sailed for Havre on board the French steamer Chateau Lafitte. Eight hundred infantry, belonging to the Asturias battalion are expected to sail tomorrow on board the steamer San Francisco.

The captain general yesterday gave notice to the Spanish troops to retire from Abonito, Baranquitas and Barros on Sunday and from Humacao, Guaman and Cayey on Monday. Our troops will move up and occupy these towns as soon as they are evacuated and the Spanish troops in position near the capital will enter the city in order to be ready to embark on the arrival of the transports here.

Sailors Ordered to Join Dewey.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The navy department yesterday ordered 400 sailors to be sent to Admiral Dewey's squadron at Manila. The men were said to be intended to take the place of sailors whose terms of service have expired.

A BLOCK DESTROYED.

Business Structure Burned at Canal Dover.

THE FIREMEN WERE HAMPERED.

Water Plug Wrenches Had Been Stolen.
Plant of Wadsworth Milling Company,
at Wadsworth Burned at Loss of About
$18,000, Partly Insured.

CANAL DOVER, O., Sept. 22.—Plin Vinton's Third street business block was burned to the ground early yesterday morning. The tenants were the Tuscarawas Manufacturing company, John A. Hostetler, an attorney; H. Miner, meat market; Joseph Ress, cigar manufacturer, and A. Koby, tailor. Water plug wrenches had been stolen from the firemen to hamper their work. An attempt was made about two months ago to burn the same building.

AKRON, Sept. 22.—The plant of the Wadsworth Milling company, at Wadsworth, was burned yesterday morning, a loss of $18,000. The Yoder Bros.' grist mill, valued at $3,000, and Barnes & Co.'s machine shop $5,000, and a cold storage plant owned by George J. Renner of this city, worth $3,000, were other losses. The insurance of the Wadsworth Milling company amounts to $13,000.

Interstate League Magnates.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 22.—The Interstate Baseball League magnates will meet at Dayton next Monday afternoon. The Dayton club will be awarded the pennant and the owners of the club will receive what money is coming to them from their deposits, less expenses incurred. The late Strobel-Keefe incident will receive attention, and President Power may again be asked to take the presidency of the league. Some dickers may also be made.

Scottish Rite Masons.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 22.—After conferring of the thirty-third degree Tuesday night on Governor Bushnell and Thos. Kite of this year's election and the 35 candidates elected last year the supreme council of Scottish Rite Masons yesterday devoted its time to the consideration of the annual reports of its officers and of the deputies of the supreme council from their respective states.

BRYAN SECURED LEAVE.

Visit to Washington Said to Be to Try
and Have Men Mustered Out.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 22.—Col. W. J. Bryan left Tuesday night for Washington, having secured leave of absence from General Lee Tuesday. He was to arrive in Washington last night and expects to meet Governor Holcomb there. The two will see President McKinley and make a final effort to have the Third Nebraska, Colonel Bryan's regiment, mustered out. His departure was not generally known.

General Lee informed a reporter that he had received a very positive telegram from Washington stating that as some Nebraska troops had already been mustered out, the Third would be retained until another general reduction was made in the volunteer army, something not likely to occur soon. Colonel Bryan expects to be back at Jacksonville in time to be present Sunday during the visit of Secretary Alger.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Col. Bryan arrived in Washington last night.

UPRISING OF CONVICTS.

Releasing a Number of Others.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—A special dispatch from Paris says the deputy representing French Guiana in the chamber has received a dispatch announcing that a mutiny has taken place among the convicts at Cayenne, the capital of French Guiana. They murdered guards, seized the arms and ammunition and were besieging the principal prison. It is feared they may succeed in freeing about 1,000 convicts confined in the building.

Devil's island, where Dreyfus is confined, is but a short distance from Cayenne. His guards are under strict orders to kill him if any attempt is made to release him or if there is any possibility of his escaping.

NATIVES APPEARED DIVIDED.

Hawaii Commissioners Were Deluged
With Petitions and Memorials.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—The steamship Alameda arrived yesterday from Australian points, via Honolulu. Ad- vices from the latter place, under date of Sept. 14, say that the congressional commissioners are finishing their work and expect to leave for Washington on Sept. 23. The commissioners are now being deluged with petitions and memorials from the native Hawaiian.

The sentiment of the natives appears to be divided. One faction desires the restoration of the queen while the other accepts the new order of affairs and asks for certain rights under the new form of government.

THE NUISANCE OF DOGS

Gives the Police a Great Deal of Trouble.

CITIZENS CONSTANTLY COMPLAIN

Chief Johnson Is So Annoyed That He Hopes the City Will Be Provided With a Dog Catcher, Who Will Do Away With Troublesome Canines.

George Culbertson last evening called at the mayor's office and made complaint that a dog in the neighborhood of Broadway and Cook street howled so much at night that it was impossible for the people to sleep. Chief Johnson sent Officer Whan to ask the owner of the dog to see if he could not keep it still, and remarked to a reporter that the dog nuisance was one of the worst things the police department had to deal with. He said there was scarcely a day that some complaint was not received at the office in regard to dogs, and if he had his way the city would be provided with a dog catcher and the law enforced to the letter, as he thought it was the only way to abolish the nuisance.

In the last few days he said complaints had been unusually numerous and he was at a loss what to do, as an officer had no right to kill an animal at the wish of everybody, and this seemed to be the only thing that would satisfy most of the people.

THE STORY.

Interesting Tale From the Man From Mexico.

The "Man from Mexico," which comes to the Grand September 28 as the Elks' benefit, is a series of most amusing incidents.

Willie Collier as a frolicsome married man, goes to a dinner, but skips out before the feast is raided by the police, only to get into a wrangle with a cab man and getting saucy with the police judge, receives a 30-day sentence. He comes home with a deputy in charge of him and meets his wife, who went heavily veiled to the dinner; was gathered in by the police, but escaped unseen, except by a waiter. There are two pairs of lovers who aid to the confusion somewhat, and aid materially to the main fun. The husband gives it out that he is off on a trip to Mexico, but really goes to jail, and the second act, with Collier in striped suit, is said to be excruciatingly funny, especially when the wife, distributing flowers to the prisoners, nearly stumbles upon him. In the last act he returns in a startling Mexican outfit.

Wonderful Recovery.

Among the many marvelous ones performed by Doctor Larkins without medicine is that of Mrs. J. Emerling, a highly respected lady of this city.

She had suffered pain in her side for six years, and had not raised her arm above her head for over a year. Both of these conditions were removed by one treatment several weeks ago, and there has been no return of either trouble since.

SANTIAGO A HEALTHY TOWN

Great Improvement Has Been Wrought by General Wood.

As the result of the general introduction in Santiago by General Wood, military governor, of American methods of conducting municipal affairs this ancient and always unhealthy city presents a health record today which is quite extraordinary considering the conditions that existed there about a month ago. Under the present system Santiago is divided in five divisions, under five physicians, each division having inspectors of sewers, streets, houses and dispensaries, with 100 street cleaners. Five hundred cubic yards of refuse are burned daily, disinfectants are distributed wherever they are needed, and a heavy fine is imposed for uncleanness and failure to report unhealthful conditions and death.

Quick proofs of the benefit of the system are furnished by the decrease in sickness among the poor. The daily death rate of 70 a month ago has fallen to 20. Further evidence of the wisdom and thoroughness of the new sanitary arrangements is supplied by the lessening of sickness among the new troops. General Wood expects in the course of another month to make Santiago as healthful as the ordinary southern city in the United States.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

SOCIETY WOMEN AT WORK.

Don Calico Dresses and Peel Tomatoes in a Columbus Factory.

Thirty women, all of them from the best society of Bowling Green, O., led by the wife of Senator John R. Hankey, recently donned calico dresses and began work in a local canning factory, peeling tomatoes at 3 cents a bucketful.

There are many girls in the town who are out of employment, but will not do this kind of work. The object of Mrs. Hankey and her colleagues, who are disgusted at this false pride, is to demonstrate that all honest labor is worthy. They make good wages at 3 cents a bucketful.—Philadelphia Press.

Our Triumphant Flag.

Rev. Thomas Dixon, Jr., recently preached on the question of retreating from the Philippine islands. In the course of his sermon he said:

"So I say to him who would retreat and haul down our triumphant flag: Don't touch it! God Almighty's hand is on the wheel of the ship of state. He who led Dewey past torpedo, mine and fort and shotted gun and gave him a Spanish fleet without a life, he who flung the awful majesty of his will over our fleet before Santiago and, giving to ships and men a charmed life, hurried the pride and glory of modern Spain in shattered hulks upon the beach, he who led our glorious army up the rugged heights of Santiago and delivered into their hands a proud city and a great, he who delivers to us the cities of Porto Rico with thrilling music and shouts of welcome—he is leading our nation to its glorious destiny. Lift high Old Glory. Let its beautiful silken folds fill the heavens with the glory of freedom. The hand of God is lifting it aloft. Let no man dare to lower it."

Pickwick or an Oyster.

To my chief benefactors, whom it was also my high privilege to know as friends, Dickens, Thackeray and Leech, I have done homage on happy occasions, and I have a pleasant recollection of the smile and the sympathy of the author of "Pickwick" when I told him, in proof of my profound admiration, how in my schoolboy days, with an income of sixpence per week, I had saved half for the monthly numbers of his famous book, still in my possession, bound in two volumes, and in the most degraded form of the art.

The smile expanded as I proceeded to describe my wrestlings with temptation, the agony of conflict, when the siren sang, in the form of an oyster-man who passed at intervals by the door of our schoolyard, and lured us not only by the cravings of appetite, but by the fascinations of gambling.

His mode of business was to receive a halfpenny from his customer, who cried "head" or "tail" (the tail was represented by Britannia in full uniform uncomfortably located on the edge of her shield) as the vendor threw it upward. The customer lost his coin if his conjecture was wrong. If right, he received an excellent oyster, with a copious supply of peppered vinegar from a huge stone bottle, with a slit in the cork.—S. Reynolds Hole in Literature.

The Boys Are Coming Home.

The boys are coming home—the boys are coming home

From the bullets of the battlefield, the wrecks that strew the foam,

From the ways where men like tigers in the deadly jungles roam—

The boys are coming home, coming home!

The boys are coming home! *** It may be the stripes of red

May drop in dreary shadows where the stars stare at the dead, ut a welcome waits the living from red turf and stormy foam—

The boys are coming home, coming home!

The boys are coming home! *** And the flags are rippling bright;

But, oh, for all the faces that are lost—lost—lost from sight!

Yet a welcome waits the living in the humble cot and dome;

But, oh, for all the brave boys who are never coming home!

CONLEY'S BODY FOUND

His Face Being Protected by His Hand

ENDEAVORING TO SAVE HIMSELF

Rescuers Penetrated Late Yesterday Afternoon to the Room Where He Was Employed After a Number of Parties Had Been Driven Back During the Day.

LISBON, Sept. 22.—[Special]—The body of James Conley, the victim of the explosion in the slope mine, was found at 5 o'clock last evening in a room 250 yards from the opening.

Numerous attempts were made during the day by brave parties of rescuers, headed by the operators of the mine, to gain entrance to the room in which Conley had been at work. Each time a number were carried out for dead, overcome by the black damp. When found Conley was in a kneeling position, his face screened by his arm, indicating that he realized his fate before death. The condition of the body was such that the party could not disturb it, but hastened to the surface, sickened by the sight. Later it was removed to an undertaker's.

The interior of the mine is still burning and will soon be flooded to extinguish the flames. The mine is operated by Card & Prosser, and the loss will amount to thousands of dollars.

Conley was an experienced miner, 50 years of age and leaves a wife and three children. The disaster is the third of its kind in the history of mining in Ohio in 10 years.

The Anvil Bird.

At dusk in the wilds of the gloomy Brazilian forest you will think it strange to hear the clink of a hammer on an anvil. You would imagine that you were approaching some settlement, and the picture of the ruddy glow of the forge would come up before your eyes.

But if your guide were a native, he would tell you that the sound was made by a campanero, as they call it, although to foreigners it is known as the anvil bird.

This bird is a little larger than a thrush. The plumage is perfectly white, the eyes are a pale gray color, and the naked throat and skin around the eyes are of a fine bright green, while its more northerly relative is orange and black, very much like our oriole.

It is generally in the early part of the day that the campanero sends forth the wonderful note that can be heard at a distance of three miles. Marvelous indeed must be the mechanism of the vocal organs of so small a bird to produce so far-reaching a note, but there is no doubt of the fact, for many travelers have heard the strange sound uttered by the bird when perched on the top-most branch of some withered tree.—Our Animal Friends.

Why He Went.

General Wheeler's daughter was trying to persuade him to stay at home and let younger men do the fighting, urging that he had done fighting enough for one man. Finally she asked, "Father, why do you want to go?" He replied, "If a fish had been out of the water for 83 years and came in sight of a nice pond of water, he would wiggle a little, at any rate."—Champ Clark in Mexico (Mo.) Ledger.

CAMP WIKOFF TALES.

SCENES AND INCIDENTS OF LIFE AT MONTAUK POINT.

How General Young Helped a Mother to Find Her Sons—Baby Food Joke on Some Rough Riders—Actions of Delirious Patients.

Now that General Young has gone to Camp Meade and the detention hospital regulations at Camp Wikoff are not so stringent as of necessity they were earlier this story can be told without detriment to any one. A certain New York woman who has four sons in the volunteer service, one of whom is a captain in the Seventy-first regiment, came down to Montauk Point a few weeks ago, when all was in confusion, to find her boys if possible. Disappointment met her on all sides. Nobody could tell her where to go or to whom to apply. After two days, during which she hardly gave herself time to eat or sleep in her incessant search, she came down to the station to make inquiries there and was directed to Captain Chase, the provost marshal. Captain Chase, for all that he is as busy as any man in camp, is one of those officers who can always find time to listen to any one in distress and to help them if possible. The woman poured out a broken and rather incoherent story of her search for her four sons.

"I've got traces of two of them," she said, "but I can't find anything about the other two. I don't even know if they're dead or alive. The only place I haven't been is the detention hospital, and they've turned me back from there twice." "It is against the rules of the camp, madam, for anybody to go in there. The danger of spreading infection"—"I must go in," broke in the woman desperately. "My boys may be dying there now. Captain, you can take me in if you will. Let the rules go this once. I'll take any precautions you say. I'll stay in there and help nurse the sick. Only take me in." "Madam, I can't disobey the orders," said the captain, but he didn't say it as if he meant it, and he looked appealingly at an officer with whom he had been talking. The officer was General Young, but the woman did not know this when she turned to him with her appeal:

"Can't you help me, sir? I know what military rules are, but if you could know how I've suffered and what it was to let my four boys go"—"Chase," said General Young, "see here for a moment. Excuse us for a minute, madam," he said to the woman. Then to Captain Chase, "Isn't there some way to get around this?" "Not within the rules, general," said the provost marshal dubiously. "But if"—he stopped and looked inquiringly at the other. "D—n the rules!" said General Young. "Any woman who can produce four sons with blood enough in them to go and fight for their country and who has got blood in her to let them go deserves some consideration. Get her into the detention hospital, Chase."

Captain Chase got a carriage, put the searcher into it and went with her to the hospital, got her through the lines and found one of her boys for her. That left one unaccounted for. Later on he turned up on one of the transports, and now all four of the brothers in arms are at home and well.

"This is a cinch," said the first rough rider. "Work that hatchet hard, Bill." "It's a hard box to open," said the second rough rider, who was plying the hatchet. "Looks like there might be most anything in it," observed the third, "and I've got the appetite for it." "Looks like there might be hoot in it," said the fourth, "and I've always got the appetite for hoot." The quartet had acquired the packing case by extra legal methods from a delivery wagon bound to their camp with supplies, and as they worked at it with an old hatchet other troopers stood about and watched enviously. Finally after much effort and profanity one board came off, then another; then the worker lifted out a tin box, one of many which filled the case.

"Grub, sure," gleefully chorused the other three. Bill unwrapped the box, examined it and got red in the face. "What—the—h—l!" he said slowly and emphatically. "Look at this! 'Prepared Baby Food, For Infants of Tender Years. Directions For Use.' I'll use it!" He dropped it on the ground and sent it spinning away with a kick. His three companions sat with drooping jaws, but the circle of troopers who were watching burst into roars of laughter. Then they broke and ran under a severe fire of baby food in heavy boxes. Each man of the four is now known as "Babe," and their company is getting up a subscription to buy rattles for them.

Delirium of the sick men at Camp Wikoff has taken the same form in nine cases out of ten among those who have been in Cuba, no matter from what form of fever they are suffering. Their hallucination is that they are again back in battle. One will be rushing up a hillside in a charge, another will be working his way forward from tree to tree, trying to discover some Spanish sharpshooter who is firing at him, a third will be wounded and trying to crawl to a place of cover, while a fourth will urge his companions on. Never a night passes that some ward in the general hospital is not roused by the cries of delirious patients, and the surgeons and orderlies are ready at all times for hand to hand conflict with violent cases. Some time ago it was found necessary to remove from the wards the side arms of the officers who are there as patients, but that did not do away with the fighting spirit. An officer got up the other night, and wrapping his blanket around him, tottered down the ward shouting:

"Come on, men! Come on! Sweep those devils off the earth!" An orderly seized him. He fought as well as he could to get away, but in his weakened condition he quickly collapsed, and bursting into tears cried: "Let me go! Let me go forward! My men will think I'm afraid. I shall be called a coward. For God's sake, let me go! I'm strong enough."

It was an hour before the idea that he was disgraced for life left him. A private was found stealthily crawling on his stomach along the promenade between the wards and occasionally stopping to take a careful shot with a boot which he had picked up somewhere. To the nurse who took him back to his ward he explained that he had not had time to dress before going out on skirmishing duty, and that his gun was less effective than it would have been had the muzzle been made smaller. It occasionally happens that as the orderlies are unable to watch their entire wards all the time a delirious patient slips out and makes for the open, but none of them has yet succeeded in getting past the guards. This performance is particularly troublesome, since it involves going through the hospital, after the man is captured, to find out from what ward he escaped.—New York Sun.

MARRIED HER OTHELLO.

Scotch Immigrant Girl Weds a Negro Despite Opposition.

Martin Hamilton, the dusky American who has been haunting the barge office ever since the arrival at New York the other day of his white sweetheart, Maggie Wood, a young Scotch immigrant, wore a confident air and a new suit when he recently appeared before the special board of inquiry. His black, intelligent face shone with delight. He was ready for a marriage ceremony. His counsel, T. Thomas Fortune and D. Macon Webster, had little difficulty in convincing the board that Hamilton had a legal right to take away the young woman and marry her if she had no objection. The interest of Commissioner Fitchie in the case had been purely of a philanthropic nature. He thought that the young woman should know exactly how the marriage of a black man to a white woman is generally looked upon in the United States. He and his assistant, Mr. McSweeney, having exhausted their reasoning and persuasive powers on the young woman, decided to let her have her way. So, when the black man came for her with a carriage and a dominie, no obstacles were put in her way. The dominie proved to be a Presbyterian only a few shades lighter than Hamilton. The young Scotchwoman is also a Presbyterian. She was the more reconciled to her marriage when she learned that the Rev. Mr. Thompson had a white wife and that they were living happily together.

When the special board of inquiry decided that Maggie was entitled to land, provided her black American lover would care for her, she took the arm of Hamilton and, accompanied by Lawyers Webster and Fortune and the Rev. Mr. Thompson, went to the carriage in front of the barge office and was driven to the dominie's home. Maggie was there made the wife of Hamilton according to the Presbyterian formula. The bride and bridegroom acted sedately. They stood with their backs to the front window in the dominie's parlor, with the minister in front of them. The bride made the responses with a trace of nervousness, but the bridegroom was firm and elate. The black man and his wife will go to housekeeping in Newark, N. J., where Hamilton has bought a home. He is an asphalt street grader and gets $3.50 a day.—New York Sun.

PORTO RICAN NATIVES.

Description of Them by a Missionary Now With the Army.

Edward Windle, formerly a printer of Macon, Mo., now with the Third Illinois in Porto Rico, has written an interesting letter to his father at Ethel, Macon county, under date of Aug. 21, in which he says: "As I have not written since I landed in Porto Rico, I thought I would write you a few lines this beautiful Sunday—that is, it is supposed to be Sunday on the island, and I suppose it is just the same in the United States of America. But of course you would not know it was Sunday here by the natives, as every day is alike to them. Those who live in the country carry on their tradings as they do on the weekday, and if anything there are more on what I call Market street than at any time through the week. They live in the mountains, and all their resources and produce consist of 'lacha' (milk), for they have lots of fine cattle and goats in the mountains, where there are the finest pastures you ever saw. They also raise some corn, which they sell to the city folks, who roast it and eat it off the cob. They never feed it to the horses, for they won't eat it.

Some of the omcers in our regime: have the native ponies, which are very small, and they would try to get them to eat it, but they would not touch it.

"The natives, which are principally the same as our negroes in the United States, go out and pick wild fruit, pineapples, bananas, cocoanuts, mangoes, breadfruit, limes and various other things and pile stuff on those little ponies until you can't see them, and then get on top of the load and go to town and trade for what they need in the way of clothing, excepting shoes. I have never seen a country native with a shoe on, but their feet, which are very large, are as tough as india rubber. We have one working for us at the cook tent, carrying wood and water, who, the boys say, can step on a nail and clinch it as though it had been done with a hammer. But taking this into consideration, they are a very clean set of people. If they only have one rag on, it is generally clean."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

IN A CANNON'S MUZZLE.

Strange Place in Which Pesetas Were Hid on the Oquendo.

Oren Rufty of Trenton, Mo., chief petty officer of the engineers' department of the auxiliary cruiser Harvard, passed through Pittsburg recently on his way home. He told a new story about the sea battle off Santiago. He said:

"A Chicago bluejacket on the Harvard visited the Oquendo several days after the fight and in one of her turret guns found a bag containing nearly 2,000 pesetas in gold, silver and paper, equal in American coin to nearly $600. The money had been placed in the muzzle of the cannon, and the position of the breech block showed that the Spaniard had intended to scatter the stuff by firing the gun and prevent the Americans from getting his fortune. The sailor was allowed to keep his prize and sent it to his mother in Chicago."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

How to Drink Water.

There are few people, we think, who thoroughly realize the value of water as a beverage or who know how to obtain the greatest advantage from it. The effects produced by the drinking of water, as pointed out by our excellent contemporary, Health, vary with the manner in which it is drunk. If, for instance, a pint of cold water be swallowed as a large draft, or if it be taken in two portions with a short interval between, certain definite results follow—effects which differ from those which would have resulted from the same quantity taken by sipping. Sipping is a powerful stimulant to the circulation, a thing which ordinary drinking is not.

During the act of sipping the action of the nerve which shows the beats of the heart is abolished, and as a consequence that organ contracts much more rapidly, the pulse beats more quickly and the circulation in various parts of the body is increased. In addition to this, we find that the pressure under which the bile is secreted is raised by the sipping of fluid. And here is a point which might well be noted by our readers:

A glass of cold water, slowly sipped, will produce greater acceleration of the pulse for a time than will a glass of wine or spirits taken at a draft. In this connection it may not be out of place to mention that sipping cold water will often allay the craving for alcohol in those who have been in the habit of taking too much of it and who may be endeavoring to reform, the effect being probably due to the stimulant action of the sipping.

A Perfect Performance.

At a variety entertainment given in aid of a popular institution one of the "turns" was a ventriloquist. As this gentleman was recognized as one of the cleverest members of his profession, his appearance was looked forward to with much interest. At last it came. The stage attendants carried on to the stage three dressed figures, seated in chairs, as usual. The professor followed and then went through an astonishing performance. No one could detect a muscle of his face move during the laughable dialogues, and the changes of voice seemed marvelous.

On retiring the applause was deafening, and the ventriloquist had to return again and again to thank the audience for their appreciation. A couple of minutes or so after, when the audience were talking among themselves as to how it was done, they were thunderstruck to see the three figures get up from the chairs and walk off the stage also, but on realizing how completely they had been "sold" the laughter was uproarious. The professor had got three of his friends to take the place of his usual "lay" figures for that night only.—Pearson's Weekly.

How Bankruptcy Strikes a Maori.

A Maori chief who lost £40 through a white storekeeper going through the bankruptcy court has given the following lucid exposition of this particular branch of British jurisprudence: "The pakeha (white man) who wants to become pakarapu (insolvent) goes into business and gets lots of goods and does not pay for them. He then gets all the money he can together, say £2,000, and puts all of it except £5 away where no one can find it. With the £5 he goes to a judge of the court and tells him he wants to become pakarapu. "The judge then calls all the lawyers

"On Guard."

When disease shoots the first arrow the truly brave man will come instantly on guard. He will not wait for the attack. He will not hesitate until the full force of disease and misery and death comes crashing about him. When a man begins to feel "out of sorts," when his appetite is failing and his energy is not up to the mark, when he has bilious attacks and a feeling of lassitude and incapacity, if he is wise, he will take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery right away. It will bring his appetite back again, and what is more it will bring back his digestive powers. It will give all the assimilative functions the edge and power to extract abundant nourishment from the food he eats. It will make good, pure, healthy blood and send it coursing rapidly through his veins and arteries into every organ and tissue of the body. It will put flesh on his bones and force in his muscles; it will give him strength and courage and cheerfulness, in a word it will give him complete health.

It excretes from the system every particle of dead, useless, flabby tissue. It even reduces the weight of the corpulent man at the same time that it builds up his strength and working power. The weight it adds to people who need it is the kind that comes of pure blood and every organ doing its work properly and thoroughly; what pugilists call "fighting weight."

IT'S ALL TALK.

Yes, But It's East Liverpool Talk. The Kind That Tells in East Liverpool.

Talk that tells. Talk that's endorsed. Every day talk by people that know. City talk—kidney talk. Do kidneys talk? Well, yes, loud and long. You should learn the kidney language.

Lame back means lame kidneys. A bad back is simply The kidneys talking trouble. Here's East Liverpool talk and kidney talk:

Mrs. Mary A. Hewitt, of St. George street, says: "I read in the Pittsburg Press an account of some one who had been cured of kidney disease in that city by using Doan's Kidney Pills. The fact of such an account being published of one living in almost the same place had a tendency to convince me that there must be some truth in it, and I determined to try them myself. Some years before this I had a very severe attack of rheumatism. For three months I lay helpless, and after that I had trouble with my kidneys. For a year I suffered severely. My back was so bad that it felt as if I had a boil where the kidneys are. I could not bend over, lean back against a chair, or reach up. I could not lie on my back, and about every move I made caused pain. I had taken numerous remedies, but none brought the desired relief. Well, Doan's Kidney Pills did what no other remedy was able to do. I took them regularly for a short time, and found them to be all that the Pittsburg paper stated them to be. I can heartily recommend them. After using them I was rid of the backache and other symptoms of kidney disease, and could not have felt better." Plenty more such testimony as this is being published here in East Liverpool daily. Drop into the W. & W. Pharmacy and ask them what their customers say. They always keep a stock of Doan's Kidney Pills on hand.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents per box, or sent by mail on receipt of price. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.

She Paid the Fines of Her Companions and They Left Town—Broke His Shoulder. Made Complaint—The News of Wells-ville.

Minnie Rudy, Daisy Crawford, Badger Rudy and William Sand were arrested by the police. When the quartet was brought before Mayor Dennis they were assessed $5.90 each, and Minnie Rudy, who seemed to be possessed of a plentiful supply of money, paid the fines for the whole party.

It had come to the ears of the mayor that Minnie had plans to make Wells-ville her future home, but the emphasis with which he endeavored to persuade her that the air of the place would not be suitable for her constitution evidently had its effect, for she and Miss O'Grady took the morning train for Kensington, where she may meet more cordial greetings than the official goodbye of Mayor Dennis.

Fell From a Tree.

Yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock T. B. Kerr fell from a peach tree on his farm, north of town, alighting on his right shoulder and dislocating it. Dr. A. Noble was called and made him as comfortable as the nature of his injuries would permit.

Special Service.

A special service was held last night in the Church of the Ascension in the interest of missionary work. An appropriate address was delivered by the pastor, Rev. C. A. Jones, and a collection was taken to aid in the spread of the gospel.

A Soldier In Town.

Leroy McKittrick, a member of Battery B, Pittsburg, came to town yesterday and returned today.

He was cordially greeted by his many friends. He reports that his health did not suffer from the trip to Porto Rico, save on going over on a cattleship. He is much bronzed, but his friends do not think he is looking remarkably rugged.

Made Complaint.

Mrs. Mary Shearman appeared before Mayor Dennis this morning complaining of the conduct of Charles Green, a 12-year-old lad. She explained that she had talked with the boy's father, Robert Green, who resides near her house, but he had advised her going to the police for protection. In her hand she carried a sample of the missiles with which he assailed her.

Want a Woman's Room.

The Columbiana county board of visitors yesterday visited the city prison, and afterward sought out Councilman Goetz, of the jail committee.

They explained to him that the condition of the jail was such as to demand immediate action. The place not only needs a thorough cleaning, but they recommended that a department be constructed for women prisoners.

The matter will be given consideration at once.

The News of Wellsville.

Reverend and Mrs. S. Burt left this morning for Alliance where they will visit friends before returning to their home in Ashtabula.

Dr. J. S. Reager is ill. He has symptoms of pneumonia. His many friends hope for his speedy recovery.

Mrs. H. E. Driggs and Mrs. George Wilson went out on the train to Iron-dale today. They will visit friends, returning tomorrow.

S. S. Cope was uptown yesterday afternoon for the first time in two weeks. He was threatened with fever.

Reverend Williams, the former pastor of the Church of the Ascension, was in town yesterday visiting with friends. He is now stationed at Martin's Ferry, and was on his way from that place to New Castle to enjoy his summer vacation.

Mrs. G. L. Oldham was in town yesterday. She was returning to her home in Toronto from Petrobia, where she had been visiting her sister.

Rev. J. H. Littell, who has been at his father's home in Service, Pa., spent a day with his brother, Rev. W. A. Littell, and left for his home in Wheeling, W. Va., yesterday afternoon.

Judge Wells and Mrs. Mattie Faulk drove over from town to Lisbon today.

A Hopeless Case.

A Scottish paper tells a story of an old Scottish woman who was "unco drouthie," without the money to buy "a drappie." "Lassie," she said to her little granddaughter, "gang round to Donald McCallum and bring me a gill. Tell him I'll pay him i' the morning."

Back came the child with a refusal. Donald declined to part with his whisky without the cash. Eager and irritated, the old woman cast about for some means of "raising the wind," and her eye fell upon the family Bible. "Here, lassie," she said, "gie him this and tell him to keep it until I bring him the siller." Off went the little girl, but she soon returned, still carrying the Bible. Donald was obdurate.

"He says he maun hae the baubees first, granny."

In anger the disappointed grandmother threw up her hands and exclaimed: "Losh, did onybody ever hear the like o' that! The man will neither tak my word nor the word o' God for a gill o' whusky!"

How Snake Poison Kills.

The action of poisons upon the system is and always has been one of the most interesting of subjects. Just how and why it kills has been determined through a series of experiments made by scientists. The following description is unquestionably the best and most lucid of any that has been given to the public: "The venom may be roughly separated into two parts—one acting upon the blood, and the other upon the nerves. When injected, it immediately begins to create terrible destruction in the blood vessels, the walls of the veins are eaten away and an internal hemorrhage takes place. While this is going on a portion of the venom is attacking the nerves. Particularly susceptible to its ravages is the 'vasomotor' system, a nerve center which controls the muscles of respiration. Paralysis takes place in these organs, and the victim generally dies from an inability to breathe."—New York Ledger.

Simply Awful.

UNION PAPERS.
 All Union papers of East Liverpool are known to the various craft and unions of the city by the printing of the above
 Union Labels at the head of their columns

THE Lisbon Patriot wants all its readers to carefully peruse the resolutions of the Alliance convention. We wonder what the Patriot has against its readers.

THE country hopes President McKin-ley's desire to have all charges of mismanagement in the army thoroughly investigated will be carried out. There are some things which should be made plain.

IN the joy and gladness of finding a man whom they believe has some chance of being elected to congress, certain of the Democrats of this district are holding up Major Weybrecht as a being just a little lower than the angels. The major might do worse than ask some of his acquaintances to save him from his friends.

LOSING NO TIME.

Every movement of the Republican state committee shows a determination to win the congressional campaign.
 Arrangements are being rapidly made for a thorough and complete canvass of the state, and within a week meetings will be announced for almost every congressional district. It is to be from a Republican standpoint a campaign of hard work, based upon those issues which the people know.

The Democrats, on the other hand, seem determined to have no plans. They held a meeting in Columbus the other day, but the result as announced can scarcely be taken with much gratification by members of the party. Congressional aspirants are to have speakers when they want them, and that is all.
 But the leaders of Republicans know their opponents too well to accept that as final, and already there is heard the whisper of a gum shoe campaign, which in turn means that every Republican must vote his political principles next November if he would see his party win.
 The old gum shoe brand of fighting has stood the Democrats in good stead before, and there is no reason to believe it has worn out.

BRYAN'S MISTAKE.

A few months ago Billy Bryan wanted to wear a blue coat and shoulder straps and he was duly appointed colonel of volunteers. He, of course, had much to say while his regiment was on the way to its permanent camp, never missing an opportunity to appear on the platform if the train chanced to stop a few minutes. Soon, however, he learned that soldiering was not all fun, and in spite of his aptitude for oratory
 there were superior officers and duties.
 To these have been added the prospect of a stay in Cuba, and Colonel Billy seeks release. He cannot make political capital from a war record, since there is no longer a war, and he realizes that some of his Democratic friends would be only too glad to have him out of the way for a time while they launched their own presidential booms. He can resign, to be sure, but he is politician enough to know the people do not take kindly to that sort of thing, particularly when his regiment is about to be ordered out of the country for what may prove very unpleasant duty. Hence it can readily be seen that Colonel Bryan is not enjoying that peace which makes men round in form and pleasing in temperament.

MUST QUIT OR LEAVE

Vello Can No Longer Sell Liquor In the County.

SALTY DOSES BY JUDGE SMITH

Liverpool Men Came In For a Hard Time
 In Court—Some Cases Were Nollied, but the Majority Were Carried Out In Heavy Fines.

LISBON, Sept. 22.—[Special]—Convict-ing evidence was produced against Frank Taylor, of Carmel, and the jury returned a verdict of guilty. He was sentenced to pay $10 and costs for assault and battery. The costs amount to $57.

Michael Vello, Teagarden's saloonist, pleaded guilty to 11 indictments, charging violation of liquor laws. On two he got $100 and costs and 10 days in jail.
 Sentence was suspended on the other nine providing Vello left the county or went into other business.

Leroy Barr, of Wellsville, will spend 20 days in jail and pay $125 and costs for keeping his place open on Sunday and selling on Sunday. One case was nollied.

Michael Claran, of Liverpool, pleaded guilty to three indictments charging him with selling liquor to Charles Mc-Gavern and Lulu Hayes. On one he got $50 and costs and $40 on each of the others.

Patrick Fitzpatrick, of Wellsville, acknowledged to having sold on Sunday. He drew $60 and costs and ten days in jail.

Jane Hoffman, of Liverpool, faced five indictments for selling to habituais.
 She pleaded guilty to two and paid $80 and costs.

Harry Cochran, of Liverpool, gave liquor to minors in two instances and paid $10 and costs for each offense.

COURT HOUSE NEWS.

Common Pleas and Probate Judges Are Busy.

LISBON, Sept. 22.—[Special]—John R.
 Irwin objects to the ruling of a lower court rendering judgment against him for $11 in favor of Julia Smith, and appeals to the higher courts.

In Squire Emmon's court, Salem, James Camps recently recovered judgment against D. E. Mather for $26.
 Mather appeals.

N. C. McLain, assignee of C. A.
 Linerade, has sued for $2,499 from J. H.
 Werner on notes.

The case of George P. Hinchliff against George W. Hinchliff and other heirs of the late Sarah Hinchliff is on trial today. The action seeks to declare void the will of the deceased which, it is claimed, was made under coercion.
 The defendant was a beneficiary to the exclusion of 11 other children.

The will of John F. Quick, of Liverpool, was probated and R. D. Quick appointed executor.

The administrator of the estate of John Guttridge, of Wellsville, was authorized to sell personal property.

WILL BUILD HOUSES.

What Geo. C. Morton Will Do With His Land.

Geo. C. Morton today applied for a permit in order that he might build three dwellings on his land in Bradshaw avenue. Part of the property was recently condemned for street purposes, and the sidewalk was fenced in yesterday.

Mr. Morton said today: "For fear of prosecution for libel I hope you will correct one word in my article of yesterday. I could not for a moment think our city council would 'lose' the people's money. I said 'saving' the people's money."

Tales of Travelers.

William Deidrick left for the west yesterday afternoon in the interest of the McNicol Pottery company.

W. D. Gilmore, of the French China company, came to the city yesterday.
 He will leave for a trip soon.

FOR THE SOLDIERS.

Judge Young Has Been Asked to Make an Address.

The committee having in charge the entertainment of Company E at Columbian park tomorrow one week met last evening in the office of Col. J. N.
 Taylor. All the members of the general committee were present, and the chairmen of the various committees appointed at the last meeting were also there.

The work to be done by the committee was reviewed, and new business was outlined.

The committee decided to make the affair a basket picnic and to extend invitations to Wellsville, Toronto, Steubenville, Rochester, Calcutta, Irondale and Salineville.

An invitation was extended to Judge
 P. C. Young to make an address to the company in the afternoon. Acceptance of the invitation is hourly expected by the committee.

The Grand Army will escort the boys to the park, and the Sons of Veterans, Woman's Relief corps and Red Cross society will have charge of the tables and eatables. The dinner will be served promptly at 12 o'clock.

The various sub-committees, which were represented, reported progress, and will make a detailed report to the general committee at its next meeting, which will be held next Monday evening.

The music for the event will be furnished by Manley's and Haines' bands, who have offered their services free of cost.

LOST HIS MONEY.

A Liverpool Youth Took a Chicken to Wellsville.

A Liverpool boy, whose roosters gained some notoriety during the summer as fighters, went to Wellsville last night for a match.

He found it without much difficulty, and placed some money on the result.

The battle is said to have been fought in the rear room of a store, and when it was over the Liverpool boy is said to have lost money and rooster.

STRUCK A WIRE

And Was Thrown Violently From His Wheel.

The danger of riding down hill at a high rate of speed was demonstrated in Broadway yesterday.

A wheelman was going down the hill when the front wheel caught up a piece of wire. The next moment he had turned over a time or two and was endeavoring to remember what had happened. Fortunately his only injury was a cut on his arm.

VERY FEW ARRESTS

Are Being Made by the Railroad's Detectives.

Detective Lancaster, of the Cleveland and Pittsburg road, spent a short while at the mayor's office yesterday afternoon.

In speaking of railroad work, he said that it was very quiet at the present time, and that very few arrests were being made by the road officers, both on the main and river lines.

ALL QUIET NOW

No One Is Saying a Word of the

There is nothing new concerning the trust beyond the fact that the expert accountants who have been going over the books of the potteries under option have almost completed their labors, and will soon report to the promoters of the combination.

A great many persons in the city still believe the trust will never be formed, money, and if the foreigners want to pay the price they can have the potteries.

MINISTER'S UNIQUE WAY.

How the Rev. A. B. Simpson Collec-

The Rev. Dr. A. B. Simpson of Nyack, N. Y., recently concluded at his tabernacle on Nyack heights a 17 days' convention of the supporters of the Christian and Missionary alliance and incidentally gathered in funds amounting to nearly $10,000. People, mostly women, came to the convention from all parts of the Union and camped in tents on the picturesque slope overlooking the Hudson.

"Brothers and sisters," he told his audience of nearly 1,000, "we have in our institute still a great many empty rooms, and you must put your missionaries in them. I will tell you what we are going to do, but first we must offer up a prayer for blessing." The prayer was an appeal for the spirit of generosity and cheerfulness to descend on the alliance. "Now, we have Tibet," said
 Dr. Simpson. "Who will send a mis-

THE END OF THE SONG.

A Thrilling Scene In the Field Hospital at Guasimas.

There is one incident of the day which shines out in my memory above all the others now as I lie in a New York hospital writing, says Edward Marshall in Scribner's Magazine. About a dozen of us were lying there. A continual chorus of moans rose through the tree branches overhead. The surgeons, with hands and bared arms dripping and clothes literally saturated with blood, were straining every nerve to prepare the wounded for the journey down to Siboney. Behind me lay Captain McClintock, with his lower leg bones literally ground to powder. He bore his pain as gallantly as he had led his men, and that is saying much. I think Major Brodie was also there. It was a doleful group. Amputation and death stared its members in their gloomy faces.

Suddenly a voice started softly:

"My country, 'tis of thee,
 Sweet land of liberty,
 Of thee I sing."

Other voices took it up:

"Land where my fathers died,
 Land of the pilgrims' pride."

The quivering, quivering chorus, punctuated by groans and made spasmodic by pain, trembled up from that little group of wounded Americans in the midst of the Cuban solitude—the pluckiest, most heartfelt song that human beings ever sung. There was one voice that did not quite keep up with the others. It was so weak that I did not hear it until all the rest had finished with the line,

"Let freedom ring."

Then, halting, struggling, faint, it repeated slowly:

"Land—of—the—pilgrim's—pride.
 "Let freedom—"

The last word was a woeful cry. One more son had died as died the fathers.

UNION MEN IN MEETING

Some Business Transacted by Trades Council.

GENERAL COMMITTEE RETAINED

Because the Sports Committee For Labor Day Have a Dispute to Settle—Inquiring About a Wisconsin Strike—Called on Merchants.

Trades Council last evening held a very interesting meeting.

After the usual routine business had been transacted the following delegates were seated: Grocery clerks, James McBane; shoemakers, S. G. Foley, John McVeigh, Charles Peterson; painters, William Irwin.

A communication was read from Thomas J. Kidd and associates, a defense committee, of Oskosh, Wis., soliciting aid for the woodworkers of that place who are on a strike. Since the communication was written, it is understood, the strike was settled, and the secretary of the council will ascertain the exact status of the case.

Chairman Weisend presented the final report of the Labor day committee and it was accepted, but the committee was continued for two weeks until the sport committee settle a dispute they have on hand.

The grievance committee reported that they had called on business men who were keeping their stores open after 7 o'clock, and some had agreed to close on time. As their work was not completed the committee was continued.

An informal discussion in regard to purchasing none but union labeled goods completed the business of the council.

MANY MEN SICK

But There Is Little Hope of the Fourth Being Ordered Home.

Major Speaks, of the Fourth Ohio, has returned from Porto Rico for a brief furlough, and is responsible for the statement that the climate is keeping the regiment sick, and scarcely half of the full force could walk if ordered to move. The death rate to the present time has not been high.

The regiment has in its ranks about 300 students and they are anxious to return to this country and resume their studies, but it is believed the regiment will be kept on the island. Private Dan Webster, of this city, is a member of the command.

FOR THE POOR FUND.

The Salvation Army Is Preparing For Winter.

The Salvation Army has what is known as a poor fund, and each fall collects money to be used in caring for the poor of large cities throughout the country.

Ensign Young, in command of the local station, is arranging East Liverpool's donation. He asks that all persons desiring to contribute, and the contribution can be money, food or clothing, notify him. The articles thus collected will be sold at the barracks next Monday and Tuesday, and the proceeds placed in the fund.

Some of the Sick.

Will Headley, of East End, who has been suffering with a broken arm for several weeks, is much improved. His father, Harry Headley, who has been ill with typhoid fever, is much improved, and will soon be able to be out.

Howard Moon, who has been very low at his home in Fourth street, suffering with appendicitis, will be out soon. He is now able to be out of bed, but not of his room.

On the River.

There have been heavy rains in the upper Monongahela valley, and the mark at the wharf in Pittsburgh this morning registered a rise of four inches over that of yesterday. The marks at the Broadway wharf this morning were the same as reported yesterday.

INSULTED A WOMAN

But No Law Could Be Found Covering the Case.

Recently an agent selling a carpet stretcher entered a well-known residence and insulted the lady of the house. She informed her husband who called upon a squire, but could not find a law that covered the case.

The angry husband promises to take the law in his own hands if he finds the agent. There have been several cases of this kind reported in the last few weeks and it is probable some one may get into trouble.

No Bonfires In the Streets.

Residents of West End are complaining because a number of people are in the habit of burning paper in the street. There is an ordinance prohibiting the practice, and the residents think it should be enforced in their part of the city.

Will Fight Next Week.

All the arrangements for the prize fight have been completed, and it is stated with authority that the fight will come off early next week. The place will not be far from this city. It will be a fight to a finish.

Should Stop It.

Small boys have already commenced the practice of congregating in front of the Grand and asking pedestrians for anything from a cent to a dime to enable them to see the show. The police should see that the practice is stopped at once.

Toadix Coming Home.

George Carey, of this city, who has been playing ball with the Minneapolis team this season, will return to the city next Monday. His last game with that team will be played in Chicago with the League club Sunday.

Another Good One.

The Huntley-Jackson last evening at the Grand presented "Three Hats" to a large audience. The company, as usual, pleased the people, while the specialties were unusually fine. Tonight, "The Fast Mail," will be played.

Next Monday, the 26th, being a holiday, our store will be closed until 6 o'clock in the evening.

GRIM CHASED A MAN

Ed Buchheit Captured After a Short Time.

HE SETTLED IN COURT TODAY

Saloonist Michaels Assaulted at His Place in Second Street, and the Police Are After Chip Gamble and Alex Heakin.

Mayor Bough returned from Lisbon early last evening, and this morning had one case for his disposal when he came to his office.

On July 30 Ed Buchheit had a quarrel in Second street with a colored man named Charles Miller. Shortly afterward an information was made against him, but as he has been out of town most of the time he could not be apprehended. Last night Officer Grim saw him in Second street, and after a short chase he was captured and taken to jail. He was charged with disorderly conduct by fighting, and was fined $2 and costs, amounting to $6.60. He paid the amount and was released.

Some trouble occurred in the Pittsburg house in Second street last evening between 9 and 10 o'clock, and the matter may soon be aired in police court. Chip Gamble and Alex Heakin went in the saloon which is run by a man named Micheals and asked for a drink. They were refused, and Micheals was immediately assaulted. He received several bad cuts about the head and some other injuries. This is the story he told the police but as neither of the men could be seen their story cannot be learned. Chief Johnson is now investigating the case, and some new developments may soon be made known.

There is a case in the minds of Chief Johnson and the mayor which they are keeping very quiet. Every attempt to get some information about it was unsuccessful. It has been learned, however, that the case is something out of the ordinary, and is one that when made known will make interesting reading.

POSTPONED.

The Cornelius Case Goes Over For a Week.

LISBON, Sept. 22.—[Special]—A number of Liverpool and Wellsville people were here today, summoned as witnesses in the Cornelius case, but the matter was not tried.

Prosecutor Brookes was very anxious for a continuance until David Cornelius, father of the young man, could be located as he is an important witness. A motion was filed and argued, and the case went over until week after next.

An effort was made to find Cornelius last night in Wellsville, but it was learned he had left that place Tuesday morning.

TWO MEN ARRESTED

For the Assault of Michaels Last Night.

At a late hour this afternoon it was learned that Gamble and Heakin, charged with assaulting Saloonist Michaels, were arrested about 10 o'clock last night by Officer McMillan. They were taken to jail in the patrol where they now are. There is no charge against them, as they are awaiting the result of the injuries of Michaels.

Michaels was improving this morning but this afternoon he is not so well. He is still in bed, and no charge by him will be made until he is able to be out. His head is badly cut, and the injuries inflicted about the eyes may cause him to lose the sight of one of them.

RESIGNED HIS POSITION.

Samuel C. Moore Has Entered a Chicago College.

Samuel C. Moore, of Lisbon, chief clerk to Colonel Penny, Second division, Fourth army corps, arrived home a few days ago from Huntsville, Ala. He has resigned his position in the army and left yesterday for Chicago, where he will enter the McCormick Theological seminary to prepare himself for the ministry.

Received an Invitation.

Postmaster Miskall has received from the postmasters' association an invitation to attend their annual session that will soon be held in Detroit. Mr. Miskall will be unable to accept their hospitality.

Knocked Mercer Out.

Winnie Mercer yesterday attempted to pitch for the Washington team against Cincinnati, but was knocked out of the box in the fourth inning when Cincinnati made six runs.

A MAN AND WOMAN

Amused a Large Crowd In the Diamond.

Two country people last evening furnished amusement for a number of persons.

The husband drove up in a buggy very much intoxicated, and the wife refused to get in with him. The man drove off, and the woman started for a livery stable to hire a rig. In the meantime the man returned and went in a nearby saloon, and the woman got in the buggy but he came out and caught her. A wordy war ensued, and Officer McMillan settled the difficulty and the woman started for home alone. When the man was released he made a short cut across the Horn switch to catch the rig, and the result is not known.

WILL TAKE THE LAND.

Council Has Settled With George C. Morton.

A majority of council met this morning in the office of Solicitor McGarry, and discussed the state of affairs in Bradshaw avenue. It was finally decided to abide by the decision of the courts and give Mr. Morton $1,200 for his land, and he will be satisfied at once and the fence will be removed.

Life Returning.

O life, dear life, with sunbeam finger touching This poor, damp brow, or flying freshly past On wings of mountain winds, or clasped fast In links of visionary embraces, clutching Me from the yawning grave— Can I believe thou yet hast power to save?

I see thee, O my life, like phantom giant, Stand on the hilltop large against the dawn, Upon the night black clouds retreating drawn In aspect wonderful, with hope defiant, And so majestic grown I scarce discern the image as my own.

O life, O love! Your diverse tones bewildering Make silence, like to meeting waves of sound, And force a hush in this world's noisy round; I dream of wifely white arms, lips of children— Never of ended wars, Save kisses sealing honorable scars.

Peace! No more battles save the combat glorious To which all earth and heaven do witness stand;

The sword o' the spirit taking in my hand, Shall go forth, for in new fields victorious The King yet grants that I His servant live or his good soldier die! —Edward Wilbur Mason in New York Sun.

WILL NOT BE BUILT

East End Will Not Have a Glass Plant.

THE MASS MEETING CALLED OFF

It Was Listed For Tonight, but the Promoters Decided It Would Amount to Nothing—Good Offers From Other Places—Steuenville May Win.

East End will not secure the proposed glass house.

Last evening the parties, who proposed building the plant and have spent several weeks in endeavoring to secure a bonus of $3,500, notified the board of trade that all negotiations were off as they had decided not to build here. They succeeded in securing all but $700 of the needed amount, and it was the intention to hold a mass meeting in East End this evening to see if it could not be secured, but the decision of the interested parties is final and the meeting will not be held.

The reason given for the action is that it was too hard work securing a bonus here, and that the company have received much better offers from Toronto, Steuenville and Canton. Where they will build has not been decided, but the odds are decidedly in favor of Steuenville.

Paper Bags For Travelers.

Comfort in traveling is an important consideration, and the newest idea for a journey is one worth regarding. Dodging railroad cinders and dust is something not to be thought of. When a thoroughly clean railroad trip is possible, the millennium will have arrived, and this period is still, according to all beliefs, a long distance off. But, owing to a simple thought of a practical man, the traveler can now protect his or her hat, which was out of the question before.

A humble paper bag, obtained from the nearest grocer, is the god of the machine. This is folded compactly and stowed away in the pocket (in the hand bag or purse if the traveler is a woman and is pocketless). Before the cars start the bag is opened, the hat placed therein, the bag pinned across its mouth and the whole laid in the rack. Thereafter, until the destination is all but reached, the traveler need have no thought of his headgear, for no dust or cinders can reach it. It will be found in the best of condition upon opening. So simple is this device that it is a wonder it was never thought of before.—New York Herald.

A Scotsman Who Ruled Russia.

Although not generally known, it is a matter of history that an alien, a Scotsman, once held the reins of government in Russia, and to him that country owes her civilization, government and present position among the nations. Patrick Gordon was born in Auchleuchries, Aberdeenshire, March 31, 1835. His father was of the Haddo branch of the Gordons, and his mother was an Ogilvie. He went to seek his fortune in Russia and became a soldier of great bravery in the Russian army in the time of Alexis I and had now attained the rank of colonel. By his bravery and success he gained the love of the army and the esteem of the whole nation and had under his control 12,000 newly formed soldiery, who were under foreign officers in the town of Moscow. Gordon himself had the czar's command not to leave the capital, but his authority extended over all provinces except those in which the southern army were engaged under General Shein, yet the latter had express orders from the czar not to undertake anything of moment with General Gordon's advice.—Scottish American.

OUR ENGINES OF WAR

UNCLE SAM'S NAVAL EXHIBIT AT THE OMAHA EXPOSITION.

Expensive Models of Naval Vessels. Interesting Exhibit of Ordnance. Daily Exhibitions of Docking the Illinois—A Warship's Compactness.

The exhibit of the navy department in the Government building at the Omaha exposition is attracting a great deal of attention from all classes of visitors. Among the most interesting of the exhibits are the models of naval vessels, including battleships, armored and unarmored cruisers, gunboats, monitors, rams, dispatch boats and the terrible dynamiter, the Vesuvius. These models are all built exactly to scale and cost an average of $6,000 each. One of the finest of these models, that of the new type of battleship, the Illinois, is exhibited in connection with a model drydock such as is used in repairing ships. This drydock was built specially for the Transmississippi exposition and cost $3,000. It is perfect in every detail, and exhibitions of docking the Illinois are given daily.

In the exhibit of ordnance for fighting these ships is a one-half model of a 13 inch gun, 40 feet long. A view of this monster and a consideration of the fact that battleships carry four of these guns, each weighing 68 tons and hurling projectiles weighing 1,100 pounds each, give one some idea of the massive strength of a first class war vessel. The breech and breech mechanism of this gun are the most wonderful parts of it. Although the breech plug is subjected to a pressure of 15 tons to the square inch when the gun is fired, it is loosened and opened by a single motion of the crank, which visitors are free to operate. There is also one of those wicked rapid fire guns which drove the Spanish from their guns and swept their ships to destruction at Manila and at Santiago. On this gun are shown the telescopic sight and the range finder, as well as the pointing mechanism, by which 35 aimed shots per minute may be made. This, however, seems slow when compared with the automatic rapid fire gun which throws 250 one pound shells per minute—the terror of torpedo boats. Projectiles of all sizes for the various guns are exhibited, from the monster 13 inch shell to the small but terribly penetrating bullet fired from the rifle used by the marines whenever they are called upon to make a landing and do military duty. Some very convincing evidences of the penetrating power of these bullets are shown.

There is a full sized Whitehead torpedo, with its "war head" and ready for business, which cost the government about $3,000 to produce. Although torpedoes were not much used in the late war, owing to the watchfulness of the lookouts and the power of the searchlight, they are still much to be dreaded for the work they can do under certain circumstances.

Resting near the big 13 inch gun and forming a fitting companion for it is a model of a 14,000 pound anchor. Its simplicity does not prevent its massiveness from attracting much attention.

Near by is a complete diver's outfit, including an air pump and a telephone. At first glance it seems a little strange that a man needs heavily weighted shoes and a heavy belt of lead to enable him to sink in the water, but they are very necessary parts of the diver's outfit.

A striking example of the compactness of a naval vessel is shown in a completely furnished stateroom, as occupied by a commissioned officer on one of the larger ships. While it is only a few feet each way, it contains everything necessary, from a tub to a fair sized writing desk, and there is room to spare.

The binnacle compass exhibited seems a Chinese puzzle to the uninitiated, but when explained by one of the attendants it appears very simple indeed and is most interesting.

Samples of the signal code flags hang from the ceiling, and visitors always wonder at the simple but perfect means by which ships communicate and orders are given at sea. There is also shown the distinctive flag of the president of the United States, interesting because so rarely seen. It is carried on all ships, but is hoisted only when the president is on board.

The uniforms worn by the jackies attract much attention, as pertaining exclusively to the men who have done such valiant service during the past few months. Besides these more notable exhibits there are countless smaller but not less interesting objects which it would take too long to mention.

Uncle Sam's children are soon imbued with the spirit of enterprise. Santiago is already making an urgent appeal for fast mails.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

UNION LABELS.

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others?

The Union Label in every industry is a guarantee of fair wages, decent working hours, and union labor employed.

PATRONIZE UNION CLERKS.

All members of the R. C. N. P. A. can show this card. Ask for it when making your purchases. Endorsed by the A. F. of L.

ONE-THIRD ACTUAL SIZE. COLOR IS CHANGED EACH QUARTER. Good only during months named in lower left hand corner and when properly signed, and STAMPED with the number of the Local.

The Journeymen Tailor's Label is to be found in the inside breast pocket of the coat, on the under side of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants. It is printed in black ink on white linen.

UNION MADE HATS.

This Label is about an inch and a half square, and is printed on buff-colored paper. It is placed on every union-made hat before it leaves the workman's hands. If a dealer takes a label from one hat and places it in another, or has any detached labels in his store, do not buy from him, as his labels may be counterfeited, and his hats may be the product of scab or non-union labor.

UNION MADE CLOTHES.

You will find the linen label attached by machine stitching to the inside breast pocket of the coat, on the inside of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants.

BICYCLE LABEL.

"Do unto others as ye would that others should do unto you." You will endorse the "Golden Rule" by buying and riding bicycles bearing this Label. The colors are as follows: The Union shield is in red, white and blue, on a background of pea green, bordered by gold. The Label will be placed on the upper front side of the tube that receives the seat post.

BLUE LABEL CIGARS.

TOBACCO LABEL.

The above Label, printed on blue paper, will be found on all plug tobacco and on the wrappers of chewing tobacco manufactured in union tobacco factories.

UNION BREAD AND CRACKERS.

This is a full size facsimile of the Label of the Bakers' and Confectioners' union. It is printed on fine white paper and is pasted on each loaf of union-made bread. It is an

BOTH HAVE ACCEPTED

Young Men's Christian Association Officials Coming.

SECRETARY COMES OCTOBER 1

But the Physical Director Will Not Be Here Until Two Weeks Later—Secretary Kling Has So Informed the Board of Trustees of this Place.

State Secretary Kling, of the Young Men's Christian association, has written to the board of trustees of the association in this city advising them of the fact that Mr. Platts, of New York state, and Mr. Rosenberg, of Cleveland, have accepted the positions which the board tendered them at a recent meeting.

Mr. Platts will assume charge of the association the first week in October, while Mr. Rosenberg will not be here until the middle of the month.

WOODBURY ACCEPTED.

General Jackson Offered a Place on War Investigation Commission—Dr. Keen Arrived.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The report that ex-Governor Woodbury of Vermont had been asked to accept a place on the investigation commission and that he has accepted was confirmed at the White House yesterday. He is the seventh member of the commission. There are two places still to be filled.

NASHVILLE, Sept. 22.—General W. H. Jackson received a telegram yesterday from President McKinley inviting him to act as a member of the board to investigate the war department. General Jackson took the offer under advisement and will return an answer today. His friends say he will accept.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Among the passengers on the Red Star liner Nordland, which arrived here yesterday, was Dr. J. W. J. Keen, president of the Jefferson Medical college of Philadelphia. He has been tendered a place on the proposed commission to investigate the war department. He did not know whether or not he would accept the place on the commission.

ODD FELLOWS PARADED.

Reviewed by Some of Their Officials and Others in Boston.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 22.—Odd Fellows to the number of 20,000 paraded in Boston yesterday beneath a bright sky and through streets handsomely decorated in their honor. There were many spectators.

The line was reviewed officially by the members of the sovereign grand lodge, Mayor Quincy and members of both branches of the city government, Governor Wolcott and staff and members of the general court, Chief Marshal Merriam and department commander of the patriarchs militant of Massachusetts, General Edgar H. Emerson.

THE BRIDGEPORT MYSTERY.

Now the Body Is Said to Be That of Emma Gill—Arrest Made.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 22.—A new development in the Yellow mill pond mystery was made known yesterday with the announcement of the arrest in Hartford of Walter O. Foster. The police have reached the conclusion that the young woman whose dismembered corpse was found in the pond last week was Emma Gill, daughter of Harry Gill of Southington.

Young Foster is accused of having been an accomplice in the murder of Miss Gill.

Visited by Terrible Floods.

MADRID, Sept. 22.—The southern part of Spain has been visited by terrible floods. At Herrera, near Cadiz, 80 persons have been drowned. A great number of cattle have perished and the olive harvest is lost, especially in the provinces of Seville and Grenada. There have been many deaths in other parts of the flooded country.

Cervera Reached Spain.

SANTANDER, Sept. 22.—The ship bearing Cervera and the Spanish prisoners reached here yesterday. When Captain Eulate came ashore he was cheered, being mistaken for Cervera. The admiral later came ashore and left for the capital.

Beaver County Fair Excursions.

Sept. 28, 29 and 30 low rate excursion tickets will be sold to Beaver, Pa., from Wellsville and intermediate ticket stations for the fair; return tickets good Saturday, Oct. 1.

GIVING PRESIDENT CONCERN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Senator Platt of New York called on the president yesterday. He said, after leaving the White House, that he had only talked with the president concerning New York politics.

Representatives C. W. Stone and Ferris were among the president's callers yesterday. Mr. Ferris talked with him briefly concerning the conduct of the approaching campaign, while Mr. Stone's visit was devoted to an effort to have the Pennsylvania troops, at present in the field in Porto Rico, recalled and others substituted in their place. The president promised to give attention to the request.

The general subject of the recall of the Porto Rican troops is said to be giving the president some concern, as is also the question of the discharge of individual soldiers in this and other departments of the army. Many applications are daily made for such discharges and to some of them the president gives personal attention. He has laid down no general rule for conduct in such matters, but allows the circumstances in each case to control.

General Garcia Expected.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—It is expected by members of the Cuban delegation that General Calixto Garcia, second in command of the Cuban forces during the war, will come to this country in the course of the next two weeks, visiting New York, Baltimore and Washington.

General Miller to Command.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—General Miller, now in command at San Francisco, will command the reinforcements ordered to Manila. Batteries A and D of the California artillery will go with the expedition.

Weather Forecast.

Killed by Wrong Medicine.

ALTOONA, Pa., Sept. 22.—Miss Barbara Franco, a domestic employed by Druggist Craine, while in bed with typhoid fever, was yesterday given carbolic acid by her mother in mistake for iron tonic. The acid had by ill chance been placed where the tonic stood. The girl died a few hours later.

Texas' Rigid Quarantine.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 22.—News reached the Southern Pacific yesterday that as a result of the announcement of four cases of fever here, Texas has slapped on an absolutely rigid quarantine against all freight from New Orleans. Both Southern and Texas Pacific roads are thus tied up.

New Church Badly Needed.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 22.—St. Patrick's church at Audenried, the first church erected in the Audenried parish, is slowly sinking into the mines and abandonment of the property will in all probability be necessary. The church is valued at $8,000.

The Antiquity of Glass.

Glass has been employed, we know, both for decorative and domestic purposes since the dawn of civilization. The earliest remains date from Egypt 3064 B. C. and are preserved in the British museum. It is an amulet, in the form of a lion's head, of opaque blue color, with hieroglyphics that determine its date. On the rock cut tombs of the necropolis of Memphis glass blowers were depicted as early as 3900 B. C. Stories are told by Pliny, Josephus and other writers to account for its discovery, but these are very doubtful, so that we have only to rely upon facts attested by actual remains.

The discovery was doubtless fortuitous. Such lucky finds are often the work of chance. When it occurred, we cannot determine; but, so far as we know, Egypt, as she was the germ of all civilization, was also the mother of this art, which she applied to a multitude of purposes, strangely excepting that which we deem most necessary—namely, to admit light into buildings.

The dwellers by the Nile handed down the art to the Phœnicians, who in like manner bequeathed it to the Assyrians. Then it was passed along to the Persians and the Greeks, then to the Romans and the Byzantines, who in turn communicated it to the Venetians. The monks of the middle ages appropriated it to beautify their Gothic temples, and so it came down the centuries to modern times.—Frank H. Vizetelly in Woman's Home Companion.

Bismarck's Ancestors.

It is stated that the Bismarcks first made their appearance in Brandenburg as cloth merchants. In 1430 or thereabout it is believed that one Claus Bismarck advanced a sum of money to the Margrave Ludwig, which was secured upon the customs of his native town. The citizens, however, rebelling against this arrangement, the margrave assigned to Claus Bismarck the fief of Burgstall, and it was in this manner that the nobility of the family began. In the middle of the sixteenth century the Bismarcks came under the sway of the Hohenzollerns, to whom they have ever remained faithful vassals.—London Globe.
